FIRST 30 YANKS FREED AT PANMUNJOM

Storms Rip 3 States In South, 10 Die

More Than 400 Hurt, Damage in Millions From Baby Twisters

ATLANTA (AP)—Pint-sized tornadoes and a strange, hurricane-like wind battered three Southern states over the week end, killing 10 persons and injuring more than 400.

Property damage climbed into the millions of dollars.

Countless homes were wrecked. Hundreds were left jobless when the winds devasted an Alabama cotton mill. Three grammar schools in Columbus, Ga., were so heavily damaged that 2,000 children were being reassigned to other classrooms on a double-session basis.

In a tragic sidelight, eight persons were killed in an automobile collision near Jackson, Ga. Four of the victims were en route to inspect the damage to the family home hit by stiff winds at Montezuma.

With surveys still in progress, 625 homes in Arkansas, Alabama and Georgia were reported demolished. Approximately 3,500 others were damaged, at least half of them extensively.

Gov. Gordon Persons of Alabama estimated the economic loss in his state at between four and five million dollars. Damage in Arkansas was fixed at about 1½ million. Georgia damage, confined principally to the Columbus area, was estimated at several millions.

The storms, packing gusts of up to more than 100 miles an hour, first struck in Northeast Arkansas Saturday night, dipped into Central and East Alabama, then slammed into West Georgia.

Lee County and Siluria, Ala., and Columbus were the areas

Needn't Fear Peace, Says Humphrey

U.S. Not Headed For Depression, He Tells U.S. Publishers

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey said today the United States is "not headed for depression" whether there is a truce in Korea or even a real peace.

"There is no reason to fear peace," he said.

In his first address since he took office in the Eisenhower administration, Humphrey outlined a fiscal policy that called for a reduction in taxes when governmental expenses "are under control."

His address was for more than 1,000 editors and publishers attending the annual luncheon of members of The Associated Press, worldwide news gathering cooperative, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"Taxes must come down," He said. "It's simply a matter of timing geared to reduction of expense. Both are too high and both must be reduced . . .

"The reduction of taxes, moreover, is one of the best guarantees we have against the fear of depression, in the event that peace makes possible curtailment of government defense spending."

Humphrey said any fear of a depression if defense spending is reduced is unjustified. He said the nation's industrial plant "is already geared to increased civilian production."

"We are not going to have a depression in America whether we have an armistice, a real peace, or continue to develop a proper and balanced posture of defense," he said in his prepared address. "There is no reason for a depression unless we fail ourselves

Alarmed at Increase in Accidents

PTA Volunteers Will Guard Street Crossings Near Grade Schools

Members of Marion elementary school PTA's will begin patrolling street crossings near schools next Monday to assist in protecting children going and coming from school. The program will be continued until the end of the school year.

School PTA presidents along with principals of Marion's 11 elementary schools and Lester L. Dickey, city superintendent of schools, decided to carry out this program at a meeting Friday morning at the school administration building on S. Prospect St.

to assist in guarding the most-used crossings.

The parent patrols will supplement the school safety patrols, in which older students guard crossings near the schools. Because of the age of the students, the school patrols are effective only within a block or so of the school buildings, and many of the more hazardous crossings are further away than this.

Members of the PTA's will guard the dangerous street crossings in their school districts as a temporary measure. They hope that the city will be able to work out some permanent solution by the begin-

Hear "Voice" Broadcasts Ineffective

Senators Planning Overhaul Schedule More Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voice of America short-wave broadcasts to the free world appear to be ineffective, a Senate foreign relations subcommittee said today in a report based on data from American foreign correspondents.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), said its report is the result of efforts to get the reaction of nonofficial Americans abroad to the government's overseas information program.

First Group Interviewed

"Treated Fairly Well," Prisoners Tell Press

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Americans and fellow United Nations soldiers freed today from Communist prison stockades said the Reds treated them fairly well—particularly after the truce negotiations began—but did try to convert them to communism.

All agreed it was wonderful to be free.

Lt. Roy M. Jones, Minneapolis, Minn., said Communist treatment was "unbelievably poor" before the truce talks began, but the quality improved somewhat and varied with the ups and downs of the negotiations.

Pfc. Raymond H. Medina of the Bronx, N. Y., summed up the thoughts of most returning prisoners when he said simply:

"I'll be glad to be home."

Cpl. James Lee Pinkston, Salisbury, N. C., said the Reds told the prisoners Allied troops had waged germ warfare in Korea and "some believed it."

Pinkston said the Reds showed "no partiality" to prisoners who seemed favorable toward propaganda.

Many of the 30 Americans and other U.N. troops willingly faced a battery of newsmen, photographers and television cameras on their arrival in this tent city, first stop on the road home.

Jones, a 1st Cavalry Division veteran who was captured in the winter of 1950, said, "The treatment prior to the peace negotiations, started in 1951 was unbelievably poor. When the peace negotiations started, treatment got better.

"I refer in particular to food, housing, clothing and the conditions under which men were forced to travel and march.

"It certainly feels wonderful to be a free man again."

He said that the Communist treatment also varied with the progress shown by the armistice negotiations.

ment during 29 months imprisonment.

"I've never been so happy to see a bunch of Americans in my life," he declared.

Pinkston said his camp was bombed by Allied planes once but no one was hurt.

Pvt. Carl W. Kirchenhausen of New York said a minority of prisoners had been influenced by Red propaganda. He said the camp library was full of Communist literature with "very few novels."

Pfc. Donald LeGay of Leominster, Mass., reported there were

Yoshida Wins But Fails To Get Majority

Jap Premier May Try Coalition To Retain Govt. Seat

TOKYO (AP)—Pro-American Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's Liberal party won 42 per cent of the seats in the powerful House of Representatives yesterday but Japan's political picture was as cloudy as ever.

Complete returns showed today that the second national election in seven months gave the Liberals 199 seats in the 466-member House—not enough to form a single-party government. It was a loss of five seats.

Yoshida had staked his political future on the balloting, hoping for a majority. However, his foremost rivals lost strength and it was possible Yoshida would pick up enough outside strength to form his fifth cabinet.

35 More Due Tonight In POW Swap

Report Operation "Little Switch" Goes Off Without Hitch

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—One hundred disabled Allied war prisoners, some weeping silently, came down Freedom Road today in an historic exchange for 500 glum Communist sick and wounded of the Korean War.

The trade, first clear break in long-deadlocked truce talks, could be the prelude to an armistice in the 34-month-old war. The talks, suspended last October, resume Saturday.

The blue-clad Allied prisoners included 30 Americans, 12 British, 50 South Koreans, 4 Turks and 1 each from Canada, South Africa, Greece and the Philippines.

Another 100 return tomorrow—35 Americans, 12 British, 3 Turks and 50 South Koreans, the Reds said today. In all, 605 Allied sick and wounded are being traded for 5,800 Reds.

Those crossing today appeared to be in fair health and well fed. None mentioned unusually harsh treatment in the North Korean prison camps, where some had been since 1950, the first year of the war. But one officer said treatment was "unbelievably poor" before the truce negotiations began, then picked up materially.

Four came back on stretchers; others walked or hobbled on crutches.

It was a solemn, dramatic scene as the sun burst through clouded skies in midmorning.

The returning prisoners grinned or wept or remained stolid, each man to his own feelings.

Sounds of battle from a nearby fight echoed over this ancient vil-

Claridon Wins Top Rating In Band Contest

Judged "Superior" In State Finals For Class C Schools

A "superior" rating was received by the Claridon High School Band when it participated in state finals competition Saturday at the Ohio Competitive Music Festival in Springfield.

The 50-piece organization, directed by Robert Paxton, competed in the Class C-2 division, which is for schools with an enrollment of less than 100 in the upper four grades. It marked the first time the band ever received a first place rating in state competition.

Claridon School, in the ninth through 12th grades, has an enrollment of 82, but boys and girls down to the sixth grade participate in the band.

Ten bands competed in the Class C-2 division, and three were given a superior rating by the judges.

Mr. Paxton has been music instructor at Claridon High School four years and is a graduate of Dana Conservatory of Music at Youngstown.

In the finals, the band plays a required number for its division, a selected number and a warm-up piece. The required selection was "Larghetto" by Handel, the selected number was "Chalet Overture," David Bennett, and as its warm-up number, the band played "Pavane" by Ravel.

Future activities of the band include a band party on May 2 and participation in a music festival in the school auditorium on May 8.

Personnel of the band include

to do the things we ought to do and lack the courage and foresight to do them.

"There will be readjustments, of course. There are always readjustments taking place in any active economy, sometimes to the advantage or detriment of one group and sometimes to another. But depression, no. We cannot preserve our way of life through another long, deep depression and we must never permit it to occur."

Declaring the nation must preserve its economic strength, Humphrey said:

"We must not forget that our way of life is threatened, not from one, but from two sources at the same time. It can be lost just as completely by economic deterioration from within as by aggression from without."

"Peace is what we all want," he said. "It is nothing to fear, nor is there any reason for depression. Adjustments, yes. But not depression. So long as we maintain the soundness of our money; attain that nice balance between achieving security from aggression and maintaining economic strength; eliminate waste and handle our fiscal affairs with wisdom, America can look forward to good jobs at good pay and real advances in our scale of living. We can have a stronger economy based on sounder fundamental conditions than we have known in many years."

The first step in preserving the nation's economic strength, he said, is "to achieve a sound currency."

Lull Envelops Fighting Front

By FORREST EDWARDS

SEOUL (AP)—Fighting along the 155-mile Korean battlefront sputtered briefly then all but died out today as the warring armies swapped disabled prisoners at Panmunjom.

Aside from a few patrol contacts the Reds threw only three light probing attacks against Allied forward positions, the Eighth Army said.

Murky weather grounded most U. N. warplanes today following Sunday's mammoth assault against Communist front-line positions. The Fifth Air Force called it the biggest close-support effort in six months.

More than 225 jet and propeller-driven fighter-bombers dropped fire and explosives on the Red lines from dawn to dusk, concentrating on the Western Front.

There was a brief air alert in the Seoul area Sunday night when three to five Red planes circled the big west coast port of Inchon and Kimpo Airfield. No bombs were dropped.

The meeting was called by Dickey to see what steps could be taken temporarily to protect the children the remainder of the school year. The city does not have enough manpower or facilities to give the increased protection at this time, he reported.

Parents of Marion school children have become increasingly alarmed over the number of children struck by automobiles in recent weeks and have volunteered

Five Traffic Lights To Be Installed Near City's Schools

Proposed installation of five new traffic lights in Marion before the start of school next fall was announced today by Mayor Harold F. Robinson.

The five lights will all be designated school lights and will be operated only during the hours and days the schools are in session, he said.

Decision to install the lights was made with the approval of the City Traffic Commission under the chairmanship of Police Captain Clyde Hardin.

The five lights will be installed at the following intersections: E. Mark St. and N. Grand Ave.; E. Center St. and Pennsylvania Ave.; Mt. Vernon and S. Grand Aves.; Bennett and Latourette Sts.; and Olney and Bellefontaine Aves.

Mayor Robinson said he would ask City Council for authority to purchase the lights at its next meeting.

Noted Authority On Bees Dies at Medina

MEDINA, O. (AP)—The president of the A. I. Root Co., Ernest R. Root, 90, is dead.

Ailing about five years, Root, an international authority on bee culture, died Sunday afternoon in the Medina Community Hospital.

Root became president of the A. I. Root Co., one of the world's largest honey - producing industries, in 1923 on the death of his father.

BOAT DESIGNER DIES

ASHTABULA, O. (AP) — Services for Henry F. Buelow, 69, boat designer and shipbuilder, will be held Tuesday. He retired a year and a half ago after a long career with the Great Lakes Engineering Works. He died Saturday.

BOMB ALLIED LINES

SEOUL (AP) — Two unidentified planes dropped eight bombs and strafed Allied positions on the Korean West Central Front Sunday, the Army announced tonight. There were no casualties.

ning of next year.

Street crossings will be patrolled in the morning, noon and afternoons by PTA members wearing sashes with the words, "PTA Safety" on them. Each PTA will provide sashes for members serving in the patrols. Some mothers are already at work making sashes and one woman at least, had her's made Friday afternoon following the morning meeting.

Dickey said anyone wishing to volunteer for help at street crossings could call either the elementary principal or PTA president in his district.

All the elementary school PTA presidents and principals attended the meeting Friday. They included Mrs. James Crabtree, president of Glenwood School PTA; Mrs. Robert Blankenship, Mark Street; Mrs. Harold VanHouten, N. Main; Mrs. Charles Kinney, Oak St.; Roy Kaufman, George Washington; D. W. Dalles, Forest Lawn; Mrs. Paul Rudolph, Oakland; Mrs. Floyd Arthur, Olney; Mrs. George Howser, Pearl; Mrs. Loy Rhodes, Greenwood; and Mrs. Clarence Pryor, Silver. Principals were Miss Philomen Gregg, Forest Lawn and George Washington; Floyd Hofacker, Glenwood; Miss Clara Alice Wilson, Greenwood and Pearl; Paul Bingman, Mark St.; Donald Farrar, N. Main and Oak St.; Miss Violet McBride, Oakland and Olney; and James Hill, Silver.

7 Internees Cross Siberia To Freedom

MOSCOW (AP)—Six British civilians and an Irish priest—freed by the North Koreans—stepped from the Trans-Siberian Express today to freedom and a warm British welcome.

They were met at Moscow's Yaroslavsky Station after the long train trip across Siberia by Britain's ambassador here, Sir Alvary Gascoigne, and others from the British Embassy.

A special RAF transport plane is due to fly in here tomorrow to return the group to England.

Fourteen French civilians also interned by the North Koreans are due here early next week. The French Embassy announced last night they had been turned over to the Russians at the Siberian border.

Liberation of the civilians was arranged after Gascoigne and French Ambassador Louis Joxe asked Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov if Russia would intervene with the Korean Communists.

Molotov also agreed to a U. S. request that the Soviet government aid in obtaining the release of U. S. civilians interned in North Korea since the beginning of the war.

The group came up with conclusions drawn from observations submitted during the last six months by 55 U. S. foreign correspondents in 41 countries, none of them behind the Iron Curtain.

Hickenlooper said a similar analysis of reports from American business and religious organizations abroad will be made public shortly. These, he said, are much like the comments of the newsmen.

The subcommittee, looking into all aspects of the overseas information program for almost a year, scheduled another public hearing today with former Sen. William Benton (D-Conn) as a witness. Benton had charge of the program as an assistant secretary of state for two years until September, 1947.

The State Department's new international information chief, Robert L. Johnson, announced Satur-

Former College Head's Wife Dies in Crash

BOWLING GREEN, O. (AP)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Bowling Green State University for Mrs. Alice Prout, wife of the university's president emeritus, Dr. Frank J. Prout.

Mrs. Prout, 59, was killed Sunday in a two-car collision on U. S. 6, 12 miles east of Bowling Green.

Dr. and Mrs. Prout were enroute from the university, where they attended a sorority breakfast in their honor, to their home near Sandusky.

Dr. Prout, 70, and the driver of the other car, Dr. H. E. Ward, a physician of nearby Pemberville, escaped serious injury.

He is listed as a pleurisy patient.

He said prior to the armistice negotiations the "Chinese had a political indoctrination course that was required attendance up to the beginning of 1952."

Then the Reds suddenly dropped it.

He said officers and enlisted prisoners were segregated in Communist camps and the Reds made a bigger effort to indoctrinate the enlisted men.

He said Allied enlisted personnel generally received better treatment than captured officers but "it would be hard to say how in a very few minutes."

Jones was captured when his regiment was cut off.

He said the morale of the officers held by the Communists was still quite good.

"I saw a certain amount of Russian civilian personnel" in North Korea, he said.

On the attempt of the Communists to teach politics in the prison camps, Medina said the Communists had classes for the POWs "almost every day. Lately, they have—you know—lessened down."

Pvt. David Ludlum of Ft. Wayne Ind., said that for three or four months attendance was required at classes in communism.

Outside the tent where the former captives were interviewed there was considerable tension and emotion as the first soldiers arrived by ambulance.

A British prisoner stepping out of an ambulance was so overcome that he threw his arms around an american lieutenant and burst into tears.

Sfc. Robert Lee of Columbus, Ga., and Troy, Ala., complained that he received no medical treat-

With only three seats in doubt, this was the lineup: Liberals, 199; Progressives, 76; Left Socialists, 72; Right Socialists, 66; dissident Liberals, 35; Communist 1; others, 17.

British Crown Serial Begins In Star Today

What English monarch was crowned king when only 9 years old?

The answer is: Henry III, who reigned from 1216 to 1272.

This and many other facts about England and the people who occupied prominent roles in its colorful history will be woven into "Crown Cavalcade — The Predecessors of Elizabeth II," a fascinating illustrated serial account of the British queen's royal ancestors and their lives which will be published in The Star beginning today and continuing daily up to Coronation Week.

One of world history's greatest narratives, with romance and tragedy prominent in its movement through the centuries, it will be presented graphically in words and pictures. The first installment will be found today—tage.

Many said the Reds tried to win them to communism, but there was no outward indication of success.

One prisoner said "they showed us photos" on germ warfare. Red charges that the U. N. forces used germ warfare have been vigorously denied by the United Nations Command and Washington.

"Some believed it," added another.

Cpl. Kenyon Wagner of Detroit, Mich., a tuberculosis patient, said Allied soldiers were "exposed to Communist literature and study was encouraged."

Asked if any had turned Communist, Wagner replied: "I could not say."

Wagner said he was given "the whole works" in medical treatment including modern drugs. He said one of the Red doctors was trained in Detroit.

Pfc. Almond L. Nolan of Rexville, N. Y., a captive since December, 1950, said:

"Treatment up there wasn't too bad . . . I believe we got the best they could do although the first winter was pretty rough."

Some prisoners said they had seen Russians in North Korea, but others said they had seen none.

"We saw plenty of girls," said another.

From Panmunjom, the prisoners were rushed by helicopter and ambulance to Munsan's "Freedom Village" for medical care and interviews. Then on to a hospital at Seoul.

Some were expected to leave Tuesday for Japan on the next leg of a trip back to the United States.

Monday's exchange started just

Others Face Disappointment, More Anguished Waiting

Loved Ones Weep, Pray at Hearing Good News

By The Associated Press

A little Spanish speaking mother in New York who had prayed for hours at her church said softly:

"My prayers have been answered and so soon."

She was happy and thankful her son had been freed from the Communist prison camps and was coming home from Korea.

A youthful wife in Hereford, Tex. almost shouted her joy:

"Oh boy, oh boy, am I happy."

Her husband was one of the 30 prisoners freed Sunday by the Reds. She was especially happy because her husband would get to see his 2-year-old daughter for the first time.

In all the homes of the lucky 30 Americans who were freed there was happy thanksgiving. Some were the humblest; others in the fashionable suburbs. From all came a common response:

Soon we will see our loved ones.

But for many there was bitter disappointment and more anguished waiting. Thousands of relatives and friends of the more than 1,200 prisoners of war in Red camps had watched television programs and listened to the radio. Their hopes were dashed for the time being, at least.

Some 90 more Americans are to be returned by the Communists in the historic exchange at Freedom Village in Korea within the next 10 days.

From all over the nation came stories of aging, greying mothers who took new hope when they heard their sons had been released and would come home. For them the months and years of waiting had been long and trying.

Probably the most dramatic of all was Mrs. Inocencio Medina, 52-year-old Puerto Rican born woman who lives in New York's Bronx. She went not to her radio to listen but to her church to pray that her boy might be sent home. After hours in prayer she returned late Sunday night to find her prayers answered and a joyful, shouting celebration in her home. The son, Pfc. Raymond Medina, 26, enlisted in Puerto Rico, although he is American born. He was reported a prisoner 28 months ago.

The happy wife in Hereford, Tex. was Mrs. Shirley Neighbors, 20, whose husband, Sgt. Gerald Neighbors, 22, was captured in December, 1950. The daughter he has never seen is Cynthia, Kay.

At Medicine Park, Okla., Mrs. Odie Lawley learned her husband, who had been listed as killed in action, was among the returnees at Freedom Village. Only two days ago she had received a letter from him, however, assuring her he was well and healthy.

"I'm happy, how would you feel?" said Mrs. Lawley.

The name of Lt. Roy M. Jones was the magic word that brought a smile through the tears of his mother, Mrs. Roy P. Jones of Minneapolis. Jones was presumed dead by the War Department for more than a year when five soldiers reported they saw him bleeding to death from machine gun wounds. He was captured in November, 1950. Mrs. Jones, ill for several years, at one time weighed only 80 pounds. The father said they had not expected their son to be repatriated since he had written he had recovered completely.

Mrs. Sally Blue of Highland Park, Mich., listened for hours Sunday night, hoping to hear her son, Pvt. Jesse Robertson, 18, had been freed. Finally she went to bed — and newsmen awakened her to tell her she hadn't listened long

Orders U.S. Communists Out of Hiding

Move by Subversives Control Board Faces Court Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) —A government board today branded the U. S. Communist party as "a subsidiary and puppet of the Soviet Union" and ordered the party to bare its membership lists and give a financial accounting.

The order is subject to review by the courts.

The four present members of the Subversive Activities Control party "is substantially directed, dominated and controlled" by Moscow.

The party, the board said, "operates primarily to advance the objectives" of a Russian-directed world Communist movement.

The board's order was issued almost 19 months after former Attorney General J. Howard McGrath started a registration proceeding against the party.

Indications are it will be a year or more before the Supreme Court has the final say on constitutionality of the 1950 internal security (McCarran) act under which the board acted.

The board was established by that act and authorized to determine whether any organizations were directed from abroad and thus, under the act's terms, forced to register with the attorney general and disclose the names of their members and financial details.

Attorneys for the Communist party—former Rep. Vito Marcantonio, John J. Abt and Joseph Forer—served notice in advance of the decision that they would ask the courts to declare the law illegal. They have called it "a lawless law."

The board said its "subsidiary and puppet" label applies for the American party's entire existence, beginning in 1919.

Say Higher Pay Would Relieve Teacher Shortage

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Two educators Sunday proposed salary increases as a means of attracting more young men and women into the teaching profession.

Dr. Harold J. Bowers, director of teacher education in Ohio, said the state will be faced by a shortage of 4,100 elementary teachers by September. He also called for a consolidation of schools and a campaign to urge teachers to remain in the state following graduation from college.

Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, president of Bowling Green State University, said the people "easily have enough funds to support the schools.

"Mr. and Mrs. America spent more money on liquor last year than they did on their children's education."

Mrs. Lorin C. Staats, Athens, president of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, called for a program of public education to the problems faced by the schools. She said such a program would result in the acquisition of adequate funds and personnel for the public schools.

Reports Record NYC Fund For Equipment

CLEVELAND — New York Central spending for new equipment and improvements reached an all-time high of $140,000,000 in 1952, William White, president of the 10,700-mile system, told shareholders in the company's annual report issued today.

But, cautioned Mr. White, the high rate of capital expenditures since the end of World War II has caused working capital to be reduced by 71 per cent.

As earnings permit, Mr. White said, emphasis will be placed on the further acquisition of diesel locomotives. The Central's president noted that the system now was about 55 per cent dieselized and by the end of 1953 it hopes to have sufficient diesel locomotives "to complete dieselization of the entire railroad, Buffalo and east, and enable all through passenger trains east of Cleveland and Detroit to be handled with diesel locomotives."

While noting that the company's net income of $24,716,000 in 1952 was the best of any post-war year, Mr. White termed it "wholly inadequate for a $2 billion property with a gross revenue of $806,926,000. The inadequacy of net income can best be understood when it is realized that a six per cent return —nominal in itself—would have produced net income of $95,500,000. Even a four per cent return would have produced net income of $55,300,000."

Mr. White cited the deficit from passenger train operations as "a heavy burden on the company's earnings."

Strike Ties Up Ford Plant at Canton

CANTON, O. (AP)—Pickets patrolled at three gates of Ford Motor Co.'s forging plant today in a strike over pay on three job classifications.

The strike was called Sunday night by the CIO—United Auto Workers, who have been negotiating with management since January.

Union President Dan Forchione said between 700 and 900 unionists had voted to reject the company's latest offer.

Voting Machines To Be Asked In Delaware County

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — Following a recent meeting of the county, state and national affairs committee of the Delaware Chamber of Commerce, when voting problems were discussed, it was decided the Delaware County Commissioners again would be asked to consider the purchase of voting machines to ease the burden of voting tabulation which has increased with the use of the Massachusetts type ballot, and the growth of population in the city and county.

James Collord is chairman of the Chamber committee.

G. E. Easterday, chairman of the County Board of Elections, told the committee there are eight precincts in the county that have developed into trouble spots, and in 1954 may have to be divided into 16 precincts. There are 46 precincts in Delaware County.

If the precincts are divided, Easterday said, it will mean extra expense in providing additional equipment, supplies, and precinct workers.

The Chamber committee believes that voting machines could be paid for in less than 10 years with the savings made by not dividing these eight precincts. Easterday was asked to prepare figures on the costs of equipment and present them at a meeting of the Commissioners today.

MT. GILEAD—Sid Tennant was named chairman of the Mt. Gilead Recreation Board at the first meeting of the season. Fred Goare was named secretary. Application for positions at the recreation center will be sought after the Friday meeting.

Dulles Set For Paris Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flies to Paris this week to advocate a long-range European defense program designed to meet a continuing Soviet threat over a period of 20 or 30 years.

Dulles says that what he calls the Soviet "peace defensive" has produced no evidence to indicate the Kremlin is abandoning aggressive policies or that the free world would be justified in letting down its guard.

He does say it may bring an armistice in Korea.

The secretary told the American Society of Newspaper Editors here Saturday night that Russia has yet to respond in action to the test which President Eisenhower outlined in his world peace plan last Thursday.

Dulles told the editors the Soviet Union has still to demonstrate whether it will abandon an international conspiracy aimed at "overthrowing every genuinely free government in the world."

Until it does so, he made clear, the Eisenhower administration is convinced that defenses must be fully maintained. This a long-time undertaking, he said, requiring adjustments of programs now under way.

Youngster at Wheel Leads Cops on Chase

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police in Walton Hills finally caught up with a car Sunday doing 84 miles an hour after a four-mile chase.

When they caught up with it, they found a 15-year-old boy at the wheel and eight passengers, from 8 to 16 years old.

The driver, a fugitive from the juvenile detention home here, is back in custody. The children were returned to their parents.

The driver explained he "borrowed" the car and saw the youngsters on the street Saturday night. He gave them a ride to Akron and back.

Puts a Good Mark on a Man!

Regardless of where he drives, no man is wholly a stranger to the people about him—if he sits at the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

His name may be unknown—and also his occupation—and, likewise, the whereabouts of his home.

But he is not without standing. For his Cadillac marks him as a man of character and substance.

Wherever he may be, let him arrive at the door of a distinguished hotel or restaurant—or let him seek the ear of anyone for direction or information . . . and he has the courtesy that goes with respect.

And let it be said for Cadillac owners that, almost invariably, they respond in kind.

Indeed, the honor which Cadillac does to its owners is the fruit of the honor they have so long bestowed upon Cadillac. When so many wonderful people favor a particular make of car over such a long period of time—the car must inevitably become a mark of distinction.

All of this, of course, comes to the owner of a 1953 Cadillac as an extra joy and satisfaction.

It comes in addition to the magnificent performance of Cadillac's 210 h.p. engine and improved Hydra-Matic Drive . . . the wonderful comfort of Cadillac's new Air Conditioner* . . . the car's soft, easy, relaxing ride . . . its marvelous balance and handling ease . . . its long life and dependability . . . and its truly amazing economy of upkeep and operation.

Put them all together and they spell the grandest satisfaction in all the world of motoring.

Have you seen and driven the 1953 version of the "Car of Cars"?

If not—we should be happy to see you at any time. Why not come in today? *Optional at extra cost.

Producers' Problem

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—To sing a song, all you need is a voice. To paint a picture, all you need are brushes, colors and canvas.

"But to produce and direct a movie today a man really ought to have two heads," says George Stevens, a man in a position to know.

"It is like trying to be a traffic cop and write a poem at the same time.

"You need an executive head to handle all the vast paraphernalia of movie-making. You need another, more sensitive head to get the delicate human emotional values you are trying to put on film."

Stevens, one of perhaps half a dozen authentic geniuses in his field in Hollywood, has a mind that combines both abilities. Each of his pictures bears the stamp of a man who knows people and takes infinite pains to portray them accurately. His latest, "Shane," a story of the old gun-fighting West as seen through the eyes and heart of a small boy, raises the standard horse opera to the level of an art form.

"I try for reality," he said. "I like a story with enough drama in it the actors don't have to steam themselves up and start behaving like actors instead of normal people."

George is a rugged, modest down-to-earth fellow himself who has managed to remain completely human in the unreal world of Hollywood.

"I have no truck with the social life there," he said. "I like baseball, and I like to hunt and fish. But the work of making movies is so varied itself it can give you all the pleasure and satisfaction you need."

Sevens came from a prominent theater family himself. He started out as actor. But, overcome by a desire to eat regularly, he then became a cameraman, a gag writer, and a director of two-reel comedies.

"I suppose I made about 30," he recalled. "In those days, however, we didn't count two-reelers—we accumulated them."

Since 1933 he had made 21 major films, including such hits as "Alice Adams," "Quality Street," "Vivacious Lady," "Gunga Din," "Woman of the Year," "I Remember Mama," "A Place in the Sun," and "Something To Live For."

During the war Stevens directed 42 armed service camermen in the filming of battle action in Tunisia and Europe, a monumental job for which he received no credit line—and wants none.

"After I came home, I wanted to do a really good film based on the Second World War," he said, and added wryly:

"I thought that since I knew at least something of the local color of war, somebody would ask me to direct a war picture. I sat around waiting—and that was a mistake. Nobody asked me. And now I am afraid it is too late.'

But George is still yearning for a chance. He likes to vary his pictures.

"What kills off most directors," he observed, "is that they start repeating themselves — or begin taking themselves more seriously than they do their work.

"The biggest danger in Hollywood is to go Hollywood. You can't just make new pictures based on previous pictures that did well. You have to keep in touch with real people and real events.'

Band Leader Collapses

BOSTON (AP)—Benny Goodman, one of the nation's top bandleaders of the 1930s, was scheduled to be moved to a New York hospital today in an ambulance equipped with an oxygen tent. He collapsed last night for the second time in 18 hours.

He spent the night in an oxygen tent in his Hotel Ritz-Carlton suite. A doctor said his condition was not serious enough to warrent immediate hospitalization.

John Hammond, brother-in-law of the 43-year-old clarinetist, said, "We don't think it was a heart attack."

Hammond added: "The cause seems to be sheer exhaustion from Benny's current nation-wide concert tour. He had only four hours sleep in the four days before his first collapse yesterday."

Goodman was revived after an hour and 40 minutes by a fire department rescue squad using an inhalator when he suffered the first attack on his arrival here from Providence, R. I., early yesterday.

Later, he suffered a relapse and was placed under oxygen by Dr. Charles L. Sturdevant, hotel physician.

Green Camp Council Views Light Contract

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP — Contract for street lights was discussed at the April meeting of Council. Harold J. Grigsby represented the Ohio Edison Co. The village has had free street lights for the past 25 years, from one-half hour after sundown to 11 p.m. This came about when in contract negotiations the local electric plant was sold to the CD & M in 1928 when the new power house was built on its present site near Newmans Bridge.

First reading of the ordinance will be at the May council meeting. The contract expires July 31. Consideration is being given by the street and alley committee to a proposal to install a few more lights and bring the number to more than 50 and secure a lower rate per light and an overall reduction.

Israel After Five Years

Ohio, celebrating its 150th year, is peculiarly able to understand Israel's pride in having survived the first 5 years of a troubled existence.

The world's newest nation, founded on the historic record of one of the oldest nations, has doubled its population since 1948. But the increase was not voluntary; it was too dangerously large, too dangerously fast.

Yet, Israel survived. And more than that, it has begun to achieve its destiny. In half a decade, it has revealed to the politically, economically and socially backward people of the Middle East what men can do with self-rule and enlightenment.

It has become a bastion of human freedom in a depressed area of the earth. No one could have foreseen during the grim days of its creation by bloodshed and diplomacy that it would become a vital outpost in the struggle against the hopelessness and poverty which give absolutists their chance to choke down the aspirations of the human race.

The flood or refugees from Europe's anti-Jewish oppressors is subsiding. Israel now will have a chance to stabilize its national affairs. With a population of about one and a half million, it expects to keep growing.

Ohio, with eight times as much area, had 1,500,000 residents in 1840. It was to be almost 40 more years before the Ohio population doubled—a circumstance that enables Ohioans to grasp what it has meant for Isreal to absorb a 100 per cent population increase in a fledgling republic being carved out of the desert.

Steel Fever in Africa

By Geoffrey Jenkins

PRETORIA, S. AFRICA Deep in the Transvaal wilderness is an $84,000,000 "Kindgom" which is destined to become one of South Africa's three great steel cities. Under this "kindgom" lie the richest deposits of iron ore in the world. On its border — or it might be part of it, for there are no frontiers in this untracked land —are millions of tons of manganese which have already made South Africa the second largest producer in the world.

This Kingdom is 165 miles northwest of Kimberley, and 57 miles from Postmasburg, the nearest town.

Six men, led by a South African Scot, are the ultimate point of civilization on the fringe of the Kalahari Desert. They call the Kingdom after fair, ruddy-faced, silent James Matthew Campbell. He is the man who is pushing a railway into the wilderness to bring back to the rapidly increasing furnaces of the Union's steel industry the iron wealth which is under the shimmering desert.

Campbell is no dreamer, but a hard - headed construction engineer who drove a railway from Beirut to Haifa during the war. From a Scots father and a Lancashire mother (who has never lost her North Country accent) he has inherited toughness, the absence of which has broken many another man's heart in the ruthless country.

Even to the great - hearted, the immensity of the vast, sandy kingdom, broken only by low tufted grass, dwarf bushes and occasional sweetthorn trees (covered after rare rains with scented powder-puff blossom and fluffy yellow catkin bobbins) is something of a shock.

Mrs. Campbell, mother of two sons, Graham and Andrew, and a daughter Susan, said: "We've become more or less accustomed to the place now, but I'll never forget my first drive. We came up from Postmasburg (the railhead 108 miles from Kimberly) and had lunch with Terence Cuffe, cooked by himself in an oven balanced on top of a primus stove. We then came on here, four more miles of loneliness and low thorn bushes.

"Suddenly we turned off into the veld — the road was almost imperceptible to my town - accustomed mind, and came upon Campbell's Kingdom. It was a couple of huts, much material strewn over the veld, and the foundation for our house, consisting of a rectangular slab of concrete with a two-brick - high wall all round. I must admit my spirits sank very low only other building in the Kingdom is its nerve - center, a piebald, brown - and - yellow wooden prefab.

Rain is news and life to this wilderness. When it comes —which is rarely — the brown - red veld turns to technicolor brightness under a covering of ephemeral desert flowers.

"We have been absolutely broiled for a month and tempers were becoming very brittle and fragile," Mrs. Campbell said. "It is a ticklish situation when you have only six men working together and they never really get away from the work or from each other.

"Rain assumes great importance in one's mind and becomes the sole topic of conversation until you realize this and determine you won't mention it again as it merely makes you feel hotter.

"However, at last it came and the children put on their bathing costumes and tore round shrieking with sheer delight, jumping in all the puddles. The adults just rejoiced and put out buckets for the precious liquid for hair-washing and for car radiators, as the local water is full of lime. The air cools, one becomes alive again, and the hills in the distance look beautiful in the early morning instead of being obliterated by heat haze at 6:30 a.m. The sunsets are exquisite."

But the desert rains — they call half an hour's shower in Campbell's Kingdom a "big Rain" — are always preceded by biting dust storms which sweep up the desert into a red, swirling fury.

Mrs. Campbell put it graphically: "There is an eerie feeling before the storm, a sort of sighing in the bush. The wind whines and whistles and the red dust obliterates everything. Then, just a you are on the point of tearing out your hair, the rain hammers on the roof, and you relax."

Nearest village to the isolated Kingdom is Oliphantshoek, 25 miles away, across Africa's worst road. It has been cut to pieces by 30-ton Diesel trucks, so tall a man can stand upright under the chassis.

Picnic parties into the desert are a pastime. Favorite spots are the Kathu (pronounced Ka-too) Springs and Witsand, the famous roaring sands of South Africa, whose roaring and moaning in the desert night is rather a terrifying experience.

Campbell's job will be over when he has driven his railway to the iron-ore fields, a task which is costing roughly $28,000 a mile and a wealth of organizing ability which few but the silent Campbell

Seven Ways to College Education

The day when "any boy or girl with brains and guts" can get a college degree hasn't yet arrived, but it is getting awfully close.

Anxious parents who don't see how they can afford a college education for their youngsters should take heart. If your boy or girl means business about college, the odds are all in his favor, says Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine.

Look at these figures: Two and a half million students are now in college, 10 times the number that were in 1900. One person in every five of college age—not counting veterans—is now enrolled. Nothing quite like this has ever happened, anywhere in the world, any time.

To be sure, there still are qualimore millions available in the coffers of churches, fraternal organizations, labor unions and private foundations.

Much of this money lies unused, year after year. At last count, nearly 157,000 scholarships and fellowships were available through colleges and universities, and only 148,000 of them were being used. The average amount of all undergraduate scholarships was about $220 a year and the average amount for fellowships, which are usually granted to graduate students, about $675 a year.

Scholarship money is generally given to exceptional students who need the funds to complete their education — though, in some instances, the scholarship is awarded on the basis of performance only, whether the student needs in some instances, notably loans made to finance medical education, a portion or all of the loan is wiped out if the student agrees to practice in his home state for a specified number of years.

But most loans are straight business deals, at interest rates of from 3 per cent to 6 per cent, payable in installments after graduation.

The bulk of the money is in the hands of colleges and universities, but a good bit of it is provided by trusts, estates and private institutions such as unions, churches, women's organizations, and alumni groups.

Here again, some of the money lies unused year after year.

There is this to be said about loans for college. Usually any student is able to borrow, and thus

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Fair Warning, Ike!

Dear Ike: Don't let the golf bug bite too deeply. The voters are beginning to worry. They know what golf can do to a man "ef he don't watch out" and they are haunted by a fear the next four years may be influenced more by missed putts than by world events. After all, they gave you a mandate to deal with a global crisis not with a backswing. If they had wanted a golfer in the White House they would have elected Ben Hogan. No man who beat Hitler should have to show he can beat ninety.

No one begrudges you a good clean hobby and a routine that will shuck you of some of your heavy burdens. But from that day when you brushed off a baseball opening to keep a date on the links there has been considerable alarm both for you and for the country. I even heard a rumor you might transfer the seat of government to Augusta, Georgia.

I know this is untrue but I am still afraid I will pick up a paper and read that you have turfed the White House balcony, changed the layout of the Blue Room so the "approach" will be easier and replaced the portrait of Abe Lincoln with a group painting of Jones, Hagen and Sarazen.

Hoover, the last Republican president, lost because he used a putter when the hole called for a driver. He stood in the traps and insisted that a "birdie" was just around the corner. Landon failed because, with the ball still in a puddle, he declared the situation called for patience instead of new ground rules. Willkie and Dewey failed because the air was so full of flying divots that nobody could get a clear view of the green.

-:-

Remember, Ike, that Lincoln's famous "four-score and seven" did not refer to a nine-hole score, George Washington played his toughest waterhole in rowboats and Teddy Roosevelt shot lions, not eagles. Golf has been no good in government. Take Cal Coolidge—he did fairly well because he could look any golf invitation in the face and say, "I do not choose to join."

-:-

Keep your eye on Malenkov, not the golf ball. Stand closer to the global crisis, no matter how far you stand from the ball. Take care that you don't do so much golfing that history will declare you "first in peace, first in war and last out of the country-club locker room." The sandtraps are no place to balance a budget. When you ask the caddy what club to use to cut taxes all is lost.

"I must have looked up" will never be accepted as an alibi for a bad foreign policy. The people wore those "I Like Ike" buttons without ever having seen you in golf clothes. You won your spurs in a global war not in an argument over a rough fairway.

Easy on the golf, please. We don't want the and nursery stock (the field rather than infantile kinds) seem rather drab if viewed realistically as they are. Vegetable seeds and slips right out of a sprouting box ready to trowel into the receptive earth are inglorious in themselves. Yet who looks at them as they are? They are purchased, discussed, argued about, handled and ultimately planted by men and women who wear the rosiest-colored glasses in the world—people who are never-say-die optimists, persons of infinite credibility and vast faith and unswerving hopes. Seed catalogs bolster this perennial aspiration, with pictures of flowers shaming any rainbow in hues and even in size, illustrations of tomatoes and cucumbers and radishes practically breaking the back of the pictured person displaying them.

One Machine-Age Complex

Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, newly-named U.S. Ambassador to Italy, celebrating her admitted fiftieth birthday anniversary before sailing, credited two mechanical gadgets—the typewriter and the sewing machine—with liberating women from the limited jobs available to them a half century ago. In best feminist tradition, she contended that men had little to do with such liberation, at least purposefully so. Thimmonier (French) and Howe (U.S.) invented the sewing machine; Mitterhoff, who was Austrian, and Sholes and Gidden, Americans, invented the typewriter. All were men, but Mrs. Luce clings to the women-advanced-despite-men doctrine, and this seems to make the fair sex happy indeed.

There are high school girls however, whose vocational aims are higher and broader than these two particular gadgets. There are many eminent women (including the fair Mrs. Luce herself) who would scorn typewriters and probably don't know a bobbin from a presser-foot, and the number of feminine typists who are not yearning for emancipation from these man-made anchors and aiming higher—save into matrimony—could be counted on one hand.

Posterity, Be Merciful

Seven sculptured heads dug up at the site of ancient Jericho have set off such a frenzy of conclusion - jumping among archaeologists that the darkest fears of modern times are being rekindled.

Suppose archaeologists in another 5,000 years were to excavate a truckload of modern sculptures depicting human beings as blobs of flesh with wires sprouting out of their ears. Conclusion-jumping would be rife.

The wisest heads among the archaeologists would point knowlingly to the relics as proof of someone's contention that 5,000 years ago all men had wires sprouting out of their ears It's a sobering thought.

The only other kind of statuary likely to be exhumed in 5,000 years now stands on countless public squares. It shows that Americans always rode horseback, wore frock coats, or carried guns.

Many of them wore strange headgears peculiar to wars which will have been forgotten in 5,000 years. And without exception they were jut - jawed and beetle - browed, as was befitting men of heroic importance.

Let us hope men may be smart enough in another 5,000 years not to jump to foolish conclusions on the basis of fragmentary evidence.

and I retreated to the car, muttering something about it being too windy outside for Baby Andrew."

Now, however, these are three houses. There also has been an influx of artisans who will erect permanent railway buildings. They seem to sleep where they can. The possess.

"Like it?' Mrs. Campbell echoed my question. "Well, life is not really unpleasant, but the vastness and the harshness of the country . . . The best thing about 1953 is that the line will be finished this year."

America Means Opportunity

By MARK DANA

The American Schools and College Association, which singled out ten outstanding men for the annual Horatio Alger Awards, might have stressed more than it did the fact that these ten were only symbolical of thousands upon thousands of men (also women) who were born in lowly circumstances but rose high. The basic pattern of the Horatio Alger books for and about boys, popular in the first part of this century, was a poor lad who was a paragon of virtue, with no vices, who partly through his own acumen, partly through chance, bested his enemies, ultimately married a wealthy girl, and presumably kept on achieving.

Some foreigners across both oceans, and some native-stock Americans within our own boundaries, seem bent on disparaging if not destroying the factors in the U.S. which permit any lad with the right stuff in him to become prominent and even wealthy. Colleges, which unite in awards like these, uphold this tradition of free enterprise, of individual opportunity, of freedom from artificial barriers to ambitions. There are not many countries in the world where a person like Herbert Hoover, a blacksmith's son orphaned at four, could become either President or wealthy (and he did both) due largely to character and industry. Paul G. Hoffman, Board Chairman of the Studebaker Corp.; James C. Penney of the store chain; Walter D. Fuller, Board Chairman of the Curtis Publishing Co.; Adolph Zukor of the film industry; Thomas J. Watson, Board Chairman of the International Business Machines Corp., and others of the ten Alger-Award recipients, all from humble beginnings, are just symbols of what can happen and is happening throughout America.

Those things can't happen under Communism, or in a socialistic atmosphere, or where fascism cramps initiative and limits hope. The proportion of prominent men who started out in a lowly sphere dwarfs by far, in this country, the number born to the purple who managed to remain high up, thus reversing the ratio in some other lands. It remains a continuing obligation on all Americans, especially those solicitous for the welfare of any particular lads and lassies, to maintain the conditions which keep the poverty-to-riches doorway always open.

CROSSTOWN — By Roland Coe

"We certainly do NOT need one! I haven't time to relax and you can relax easily enough anywhere!"

they should make a college education an immediate possibility, instead of a far-off dream.

Veterans and reservists get special government benefits under the GI Bill of Rights. As long as young men are drafted into the armed forces, there is little chance that there will be any major change in that policy.

Under the new GI bill, veterans receive $110 to $160 a month (according to the number of dependents) for full-time attendance at college. These payments last for a period equal to one and a half times the number of days served in the armed forces after June 27, 1950. In other words, for two years of service, three years of college.

And for a limited number of well-qualified applicants, the Naval ROTC program offers a remarkable opportunity for a college education. In return for an agreement to serve for three years on active duty, eight in the reserves, and pursue a rather strict course of study, a boy can receive a free education and $50 a month for maintenance as well.

The remaining six methods of financing college are, as you will see, open to anyone and everyone. Here they are.

The pot of gold that is now set aside for helping deserving youngsters get a college education has welled to roughly $42,000,000 in funds administered by colleges and universities alone. There are fied students who don't get to college for financial reasons, but their number is steadily decreasing. What is more important, many of those young people actually could go to college but don't—because they are unaware of the many ways to jump over the troublesome financial barriers.

Where money is no consideration, parents often spend more than $3,000 a year to keep a son or daughter in college. Tuition, board and room at the most expensive private college is $2,300 a year. Add railroad fares, clothes, books and a liberal allowance, and it's easy to pass that $3,000 figure.

Fortunately it's not necessary to spend that kind of money. More likely, a school year away from home at a private college will cost between $1,000 and $1,500 a year.

And at the lower end of the scale, state — and city-supported colleges offer tuition-free education to residents. Non-residents can get by for somewhat less than they would pay at a private school.

The point is, you can make a college education as big or as small a financial problem as you wish.

But don't rule out any college, no matter how expensive. Here are seven methods of cutting the college financial problem down to size.

Some of these methods actually reduce the cash outlay the student and his family have to make, and others merely make it easier to pay the full cost. Together, they should make a college education an immediate possibility, instead of a far-off dream.

Veterans and reservists get special government benefits under the GI Bill of Rights. As long as young men are drafted into the armed forces, there is little chance that there will be any major change in that policy.

The pot of gold that is now set aside for helping deserving youngsters get a college education has welled to roughly $42,000,000 in funds administered by colleges and universities alone. There are the money or not.

The great bulk of scholarship money is set aside for students of outstanding academic achievement who have demonstrated their ability to carry on a college course successfully, and who also are in need of help.

In addition to that big kitty available for outright grants, there is another pool of money—estimated to be well over $50,000,000—that is available for lending to college students.

For the most part these funds operate on a deferred replacement basis. The student borrows the money during each of his four years at college, and then repays after graduation.

In a few cases the money is lent with only a moral obligation to repay when or if possible. And, the lending programs throw open the college doors to those who want to go, regardless of academic standing, field of study or financial status. If a student is willing to assume the obligation, he can borrow money.

Perhaps no single one of these seven methods solves your particular problem. But certainly, by combining some borrowing, part-time work, and the choice of a low-cost school, it should be possible for youngsters who really want to get an education to fulfill their wish.

As things stand right now, no matter how slim your pay check, your youngster can reasonably hope to get a good college education—if he and you are willing to work for it.

Some Vital School Problems

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

Unlike the weather, which everybody talks about, says Mrs. Sarah G. Caldwell, education is something the American people could do something about. Mrs. Caldwell, an Akron, O., educator, and president of the National Education Association, says "We bellieve more people will work to improve the educational opportunity of every child if they know the facts."

Looking at the ledgers of the public school system on a visit here, Mrs. Caldwell gave the following figures which she believes are the concern of all citizens:

At least 1½ million more school children will enter the elementary schools next September, a million more each year for the next six years.

Twenty-two per cent of the school buildings across the country are more than 50 years old. At least 15 per cent, she says, should be condemned immediately.

At least 160,000 additional teachers will be needed to meet the new influx, to eliminate half-day and triple sessions, to provide instruction not now included in many elementary school programs and to fill vacancies caused by teachers leaving the profession.

In 1952 colleges produced approximately 37,000 graduates fully prepared for elementary school teaching. This year's crop will be a little over 35,000. Where as in other years the emphasis have been on the lack of elementary teachers, next year the shortage will begin to affect high schools.

Mrs. Caldwell had this to say about the curriculum: "Educators and lay citizens readily agree on the need to teach the three Rs. They do not always agree, however, on the kinds and levels of proficiency in these areas for which the schools should strive. Despite the rumors you may have heard—citizenship is not neglected in today's schools. A total of 47 states require public elementary and secondary schools to teach U. S. history. Our schools also relate their whole program to the objectives of educational groups with

Mrs. Caldwell asked representatives of educationa, groups with whom she met to project the story of what is happening in our schools to the public. "The real danger is not communist teachers in our schools," she concluded — "In many instances it is no teachers, or poorly prepared teachers. The danger is a lack of appreciation for and an understanding of what is being done in the schools, a failure to appreciate the importance of schools to humanity."

Marion Man's Dog Wins Honors In Indiana Show

An eight-month-old Bulldog, "Rio Rita's Judy," owned by Damon Guthery of Marion, took a major win at the Lake Shore Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show at Hammond, Ind., over the week end.

Guthery's dog, in his first show, won his puppy class, won the winner's class and was winner's bitch and best of opposite sex dog. It gave the dog three points, toward a championship. The dog competed against 36 Bulldogs in the puppy dog class.

"Double Nuggett," owned by Joseph D. Laughlin of Belle Center, was best of breed dog and won the non-sporting group at the show. Guthery's dog was sired by "Double Nuggett."

Guthery, who is bench show chairman of the Marion Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show, said he would campaign his bulldog for her championship at various major shows. It takes a win at two major shows and 15 points to become a champion.

Honey Rice Pudding Makes Zippy Dessert

If you're one of the numerous homemakers in America whose family cannot get along without dessert, you'll probably welcome a new way to finish the evening meal.

This one, a rice pudding dessert, complemented with honey whipped cream, has the unique feature of being an old favorite zipped up with touch of something new. Try this soon and you'll see what a honey of a dessert it is.

HONEY RICE PUDDING

Ingredients: 2-3 cup packaged precooked rice, 1 cup water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1¼ cups milk, 1 egg yolk slightly beaten, ½ cup honey, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-3 cup raisins, honey whipped cream.

Method: Combine rice, water and salt in saucepan. Bring to a boil, cover and boil gently 4 minutes or until water is absorbed. Remove from heat.

Combine milk and egg yolk; add to rice in saucepan and blend. Then add honey, spices, butter and raisins; mix well. Bring again to a boil, stirring constantly. Cover and remove from heat. Cool to room temperature. Serve with honey whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Honey Whipped Cream: Place 1-3 cup heavy cream in chilled bowl. Beat until cream holds its shape. (Do not overbeat) Fold in 2 tablespoons honey. Makes about 2-3 cup whipped cream.

Fight 3-Day Forest Fire in New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—More than 1,000 weary firefighters hope to win their three-day battle to check a big forest fire in Southeastern New Mexico today. Whether they do depends on the weather.

Since last Friday the men have been racing to encircle the banana-shaped fire area, which now covers 23,500 acres in Lincoln National Forest.

Claim of Unfair News Coverage Made to Editors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors, in its convention-ending session Saturday, rejected a proposal to investigate charges of unfair news coverage voiced by two senators.

Senate Republican Leader Taft of Ohio has contended most Washington commentators and columnists are unduly critical of the Eisenhower administration.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) has said newspapers slant their news coverage by ignoring much important news of national affairs.

Irving Dilliard of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch offered a resolution at the final ASNE session proposing a committee study of these "grave charges. The editors voted to table it, that is, lay it aside without action.

Earlier they had decided that resolutions were "somewhat risky and rather useless in view of the small attendance at the final session and lack of time to study policies proposed.

SATURDAY, June 6, has been chosen by Miss Shirley Stanley and John William Walker as the date for their wedding which will take place in Emanuel Lutheran Church. The custom of open church will be observed for the ceremony which will be read at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by the Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. nad Mrs. Melvin Stanley, 328 Clinton St., and her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walker, 775 Oak Grove Ave.

Attending Miss Stanley as her matron of honor will be Mrs. Richard Clark of Marion, and bridesmaids will be Miss Patsy Duckworth, Mrs. Earl Krider and Mrs. Floyd Decker of Marion, and Miss Ann Williams of Columbus.

Best man for Mr. Walker will be his brother-in-law, Floyd Decker of Marion, and ushers will be Richard Clark, Don Johnson and Earl Krider of Marion, and William Alves of Columbus.

Both Miss Stanley and her fiance are graduates of Harding High School with the class of 1949. Miss Stanley, also a graduate of the Mt. Carmel Hospital school of nursing, is affiliated with the University Hospital in Columbus. Mr. Walker recently was discharged from the U. S. Army after two years' service, with part of that time overseas in Germany. He is employed at the Marion Power Shovel Co.

day he is launching a full-dress survey to seek ways of improving it. Cecil B. DeMille of movie fame, among others, will help.

Hickenlooper's report said one conclusion reached from comments of the correspondents, who were not named, was that information agencies abroad should be better co-ordinated with freer rein given field officers.

There was no consensus, it said, "on whether or not information activities should be separated from the Department of State."

But Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), a member of the foreign relations committee although not on Hickenlooper's subcommittee, said he would fight any attempt to pull the information agency out of the State Department.

Mansfield said he would also oppose any move to shift Point Four, the program of technical aid for underdeveloped areas, from the State Department to the Mutual Security Administration, which handles other foreign aid programs.

"I shall be forced to protest against any mushrooming bureaucracy and waste of the taxpayers' money," Mansfield said in an interview.

Mansfield pressed his suggestion that the Mutual Security Administration, now headed by Harold E. Stassen, be abolished and its operations placed directly under the State Department.

"I want to see both Secretary of State Dulles and Harold Stassen succeed," Mansfield said. "But foreign policy must be concentrated in the hands of the President and the secretary of state."

The Hickenlooper report paid particular praise to two programs —the exchange of persons and the information libraries established abroad. It said the general feeling among the reporters was that these were successful and should be expanded.

As to Voice short-wave broadcasts, the report said: "Reception is, on the whole, bad. Locally produced radio programs and transcripts from New York often have greater audiences."

General effectiveness, the report found, was "very difficult to evaluate." But on other points it commented that:

1. U. S. foreign policy and action should be closely co-ordinated with the information program.

2. Greater emphasis should be placed on positive pro-democratic information themes and less on negative anti-Communist material.

3. "The U. S. speaks best when it speaks softly and when it avoids

Group Sponsoring Financial Project

Junior Woman's Board at Marion City Hospital Aids Pediatric Dept.

This year, as in former years, members of the Junior Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital are sponsoring a financial project in the interest of their work at the Marion City Hospital.

With the pediatric departments as their chief concern, the members, through their work and the sponsoring of various benefits, have provided instruments and other equipment, supported the redecorating of the children's ward, furnished supplies for the linen closets and otherwise added to the facilities of the institution and the comfort of the patients.

Newest gift of the board is a reserve fund of $500 set up to provide medicines in the pediatric department. The money will be allocated to the medically indigent children upon the recommendation of the attending physician and Miss Irene Tinklepaugh, administrator of the Hospital.

Recent purchases included two oxygen gauges. These are used for measuring the amount of oxygen flowing from the tank to the patient. Bolts of toweling purchased by the board for the kitchen linen closet were financed through magazine subscriptions amounting to $68.80. The magazines, for use by the patients, are distributed to the various rooms from a cart by the members volunteering their services three days a week.

Since its organization in 1947 the board has purchased an isolette which is an infant incubator used primarily for premature babies and children with pneumonia one regular incubator; two germicidal lamps; one examining lamp; an inhalator; crib; oxygen gauge with humidifier; child's nursery chair; high chair; two croupettes for use in the treatment of respiratory ailments where high humidity and oxygen concentration are needed; a metal table for medical dressings; air conditioning unit for the pediatric ward; certified hygrameter; motor compressor unit; unit; negative pressure suction attachment; child's table with chairs and puzzles; crayons and coloring books for recuperating patients in the ward and provided a gift of $600 for supplies. Also it was possible to redecorate the ward with storybook pictures made by the art pupils of the local schools.

Among the financial projects helping to make these things possible were the sponsoring of base-before 9 a.m. and the 100 Allied soldiers were across the line by 11 a.m.

The Allied men came down from their North Korean prison camps in trucks, Russian Jeeps and ambulances. The Reds were moved up from South Korea by train to Munsan and then here in ambulances.

First American across the line was Pvt. Carl W. Kirchenhausen of New York City.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, a U.N. truce delegate, met the returnees.

As the men checked out of the reception tent, they boarded helicopters and ambulances for Freedom Village.

Each was given a package of cigarettes and a letter from Gen. Mark Clark, U.N. commander, as they stepped over the line.

Some were bearded; some were clean-shaven. All looked older than their years.

One had a bottle of Chinese beer in his hip pocket. Another had a bottle of wine.

All wore new, blue Chinese uniforms, peaked caps and black tennis shoes the Communists gave them at Kaesong, six miles up the road.

In contrast, some Chinese who went back had soiled and torn their new uniforms given them by the U.N.

A large number of the Reds refused breakfast in a haughty manner before they started for the Communist side.

There was laughter from several of the returning Americans.

Others stumbled from the ambulances a bit bewildered, as if they could not believe they were at last out of the hands of the Reds.

As quickly as the Allied prisoners could be sent south, they started moving.

Clark met them at Freedom Village and shook hands with nearly all.

He saluted Pfc. Robert C. Stell of Baltimore, Md., a stretcher case, and introduced himself to the Negro soldier.

To Pfc. Donald K. LeGay of Leominister, Mass., a prisoner of the Reds for 29 months, Clark said:

"Do you feel good?"

LeGay answered: "Damn right."

Clark said nothing.

The 100 Allied soldiers came back in two groups. Most waved through windows of the ambulances as they drove up to the Allied receiving tents.

Reports Prisoners In Good Shape

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP) —The commander of the Army hospital which first took care of today's 50 disabled United Nations prisoners said they all "seemed to be in very good condition."

Lt. Col. Charles Hollingsworth of Chickasha, Okla., said the returned POW's showed no serious illness.

All 50 left the hospital by train or helicopter this afternoon on the way home to the United States

He said about 75 per cent of the returned prisoners were suffering from tuberculosis or dietary ailments. There were also cases of old frostbite and amputations.

"Worst cases were one of tuberculosis and one amputee of the right leg," Hollingsworth said. "I didn't see a single mental case."

Brazil has had a "temporary" capital in Rio de Janerio since 1822 and now plans to move the government to a location near the center of the country.

many sick and wounded still in Red camps.

LeGay said the night before they left they held "a pretty good party with wine and beer."

He said prisoners were furnished with another drink which he compared to "moonshine."

One of the first patients brought in the tent for an interview was Pfc. Robert Stell of Baltimore, one of the first four patients flown into Freedom Village by helicopter.

He said simply:

"I want to express my sincere gratitude for all that was done to return the prisoners of war."

As Stell, a Negro, was being taken out he looked up and said: "I've lost my hat."

Cpl. Kenyon Wagner of Detroit said, "I was treated very well," adding the Reds gave him aureomycin and streptomycin — "the whole works."

Pfc. Almond L. Noland of Rexville, N. Y., didn't think the treatment was "too bad . . . although the first winter was pretty rough." Noland was captured in December, 1950.

Of the food, Noland said, "It wasn't too bad and it wasn't too good.

Pvt. William R. Brock, 21, of Rome, Ga., said the Reds "treated us good sometimes."

He said the Reds "tried to give us lectures in bacteriological warfare but we wouldn't listen to it. So they quit with some of us.

"We would sleep through lectures and wouldn't listen. There were some who listened. They were moved downtown into the village without guards."

Pressure For Steel Price Hike Mounting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel magazine said today the "pressure for higher steel prices is mounting" but added the industry would be "cautious, perhaps even reluctant" in considering increases.

The metalworking journal held steel companies would be "be included to do anything pricewise that would embarrass the new administration."

It also noted the CIO Steelworkers Union plans to ask pay increases in a few weeks. "Even though a steel price increase is justified on the basis of present conditions," said the magazine, "the union would use it as additional leverage in wage demands."

The magazine's 28th annual analysis of steel firms' annual reports showed 30 producers made a net profit in 1952 of 4.91 cents per dollar of sales — the lowest since the 5.46 of 1949. The 30 producers represented 94 per cent of the country's steelmaking capacity.

"Now, significantly," Steel said, "some of the industry's principal figures are openly saying steel prices are too low."

It quoted Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel Corp. chairman, as saying the industry suffered "financial malnutrition. Fairless said the price of steel has risen 87 per cent since 1940 — but that his firm's employment costs have gone up 155 per cent and the prices it pays for goods and services have gone up 138 per cent.

The nation's mills produced at 97 per cent of their rated capacity last week, a drop of one point.

CLASS PAYS PLEDGES

Financial pledges were taken care of when the Onward Class of Oakland EUB Church met recently at the home of Mrs. John Bowen of 672 Wood St. Mrs. Fred White led singing, and each member took part in devotions by giving her favorite verse of Scripture. Mrs. Ray Martin and Mrs. Saul Hecker offered prayer. Completing the pledge toward church expenses, $25 was paid, and $14 was paid on the fuel pledge. Mrs. Helen Barnett and Mrs. Charles Blankenship gave birthday anniversary offerings. Members exchanged favorite recipes. Bible study was conducted by Mrs. Ruth Oiler, and Mrs. White gave closing prayer. Mrs. J. O. Smart assisted in serving. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. White.

New Counters Begin Check Of Traffic

Recording an accurate count of all motor vehicle traffic on East and West Church St. is now underway, Police Chief Tom Coon said today.

Newly purchased traffic counters were placed just west of the Mt. Vernon Ave. - E. Church St. intersection and just east of the W. Church St. and the Union St. intersection.

Purchased from the Streeter Amet Co. of Chicago, the automatic counters are designed to count each motor vehicle which passes over a long black hose stretched across the street.

Operated by air pressure the metering mechanism prints a number on a paper tape and each 15 minutes totals the number of vehicles which have passed in that period of time. Power for the operation of the mechanism with the exception of a spring-wound time clock is supplied by a six-volt automobile battery.

The counters were first placed on the street Friday for testing and adjustment. Actual counting of the traffic began Saturday.

The counters will remain in their present locations for about a week when they will be moved to another area to check traffic

Purpose of the counters is to determine the number of vehicles which pass a given point at a given time on a given day. This information will be used to determine various action necessary to help relieve downtown traffic congestion, according to Mayor Harold F. Robinson. The count of Church St. traffic will be used to determine whether removal of parking from the south side of the street is necessary.

Next location of the counters likely will be on State and Prospect Sts. to determine whether adoption of a proposed one-way street plan for these two streets is necessary.

Pilot, Passenger Unhurt in Crash

A pilot and his passenger, both of Toledo, escaped serious injury when their airplane crashed in a field just off the runway of the Marion County Airport east of Marion Saturday afternoon, state highway patrolmen reported.

William E. Sweeney, 32, pilot of the plane, was uninjured, while a passenger, William McVickers, 28, suffered a slight back injury, cut on the left hand and multiple body

EUB Revival Services Open For One Week

Union revival services of the Marion Evangelical United Brethren Churches opened Sunday night at Calvary Church with Bishop Fred L. Dennis of Dayton as the preacher. Music for the week of special meetings is in charge of the Rev. A. E. Clark of the rural Salem Church. Mrs. Clark presided at the piano Sunday night. The host pastor, the Rev. R. W. Faulkner, presided and the Rev. H. V. Falor of Oakland Church offered prayer. Other churches and pastors taking part are First EUB Church, Dr. L. E. Ames, and Greenwood Church, the Rev. R. L. Sutherland.

A volunteer choir sang a special number. Each night, the choir will meet in the downstairs auditorium of Calvary Church at 7. Pre-revival service prayer meetings are set for each night at 7 in the southwest room of the Sunday School unit. Mrs. John Ruth of Calvary Church is in charge.

Will Fight For PublicHousing, Taft Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) says he will fight to restore money for the public housing program if the House goes along with a committee recommendation to wipe it out.

Taft, the Senate Republican leader and one of the original authors of the program, said he favors making money available for the construction of 35,000 low rent units in the year beginning July 1, as requested in former President Truman's budget. He commented in an interview before leaving Washington for Georgia, where he went to play golf with President Eisenhower.

The House Appropriations Committee approved language in a money bill forbidding the Public Housing Administration from making any further loans or contributions in the program, claiming this would save 795 million dollars.

Taft disputed this and other savings the Republican - controlled House committee said had been made in the independent offices bill. The House is due to act on the bill later this week. The housing program action is certain to stir up a floor fight.

"The alleged savings on public housing do not affect the budget to bruises. He was not hospitalized.

State highway patrolmen who investigated the accident said the plane dropped back to the runway in an attempted take off, and slid into a nearby field where it overturned. Considerable damage to the propeller, wings, tail and fuselage was reported.

The mishap occurred at 2:50 p. m. Saturday.

Stanley Baker, manager of the airport, said the pilot took off down wind, rather than into the wind, as is the standard procedure. He characterized the damage as minor, saying the plane would be able to fly again with a new propellor.

OSU Trustees Fire Dr. Darling

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State dismissed Dr. Byron T. Darling, a physics professor who refused to tell the House Un-American Activities Committee if he was or had been a Communist.

The trustees issued a statement after a two-hour session. It unanimously approved a dismissal recommendation by Dr. Howard L. Bevis, Ohio State president.

They ignored two requests that action on dismissal be delayed, making the dismissal effective April 7, the date of Dr. Bevis' recommendation.

There remained a possibility that the central office of the American Association of University Professors would conduct an investigation of its own.

Both Ohio State and Kenyon College chapters of the association asked a delay by trustees "until all pertinent facts are available to the president, the board of trustees and the faculty."

Prof. Lewis C. Branscomb, AAUP spokesman, earlier said the association's central office would make an inquiry if Dr. Darling were dismissed.

Attendance at today's board session was 100 per cent.

Inhalator Squad Aids Two in City

The Marion Fire Department inhalator squad answered a call at 7:10 p.m. Saturday to the home of Mrs. Harley Lowry, of 374 Avondale Ave., who had become ill. The inhalator was used successfully for 35 minutes and Mrs. Lowry was taken to Marion City Hospital by a Boyd ambulance.

At 2:35 p.m. Sunday, the inhalator squad was called to the Roy Showalter home, 749 W. Center St., when Mrs. Helen Dedtrick of Bucyrus suffered fainting spells. The inhalator was used successfully for ten minutes. Mrs. Dedtrick was taken to Marion City Hospital by a Boyd ambulance.

Southern Ohio Fruit Crop Hit

CINCINNATI (AP)—Winter weather in April was blamed today for a half million dollar loss to Hamilton County's fruit crop.

Two deaths also were attributed indirectly to the snow and cold weather which gave Cincinnati its worst weather in history for this time of year.

John Williams, 61, died today of burns suffered Sunday night in a fire which started when hot coals were blown from the open door of a coal stove.

Charles Fisher, 48, was found dead in his bed Sunday, apparently the victim of fumes from a gas stove.

Carey and Mt. Gilead Music Groups Cited

Two area high school musical groups participated in the annual Ohio Music Educators Competitive Festival held on the Ohio State University campus Saturday.

The Carey High School band received an "excellent" rating in the band division, and the mixed chorus from Mt. Gilead High School received a rating of "good" in that division, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

A total of 38 musical groups participated, representing the winner of district eliminations. The contest was supervised by Forrest D Stoll, instructor in the school of music at Ohio State.

pass, attempted a left turn. Miller swung left off the highway and struck the parked truck.

Both boys were taken to Bucyrus City Hospital where they were treated and released.

Driver of the truck, Arthur Porter, 30, of Sommers, Iowa, was not injured. Damage to the car was considerable on the right side.

In other accidents investigated by the patrol, cars driven by Neason Reebel, 18, of near LaRue, and Virgil Sellers, 60, of near Marion, were involved in a mishap on State Route 4, three miles south of Marion. The Sellers auto had stopped behind a line of several cars when the Reebel car rammed into the rear. The Sellers auto received minor damage while the front end of the Reebel car was considerably damaged.

A passenger in the Sellers auto, Mona Sellers, 60, suffered a stiff neck, but was not treated.

At 7:05 a.m. Saturday on Route 42, five miles north of Mt. Gilead, a 1946 pickup truck, driven by William C. Miller, 41, of near Mt. Gilead, swerved from the road into a ditch to avoid hitting on-coming car. The auto slid back onto the road and finally overturned. Driver of the other car was not known. Miller was not injured.

A car driven by Richard Young, 26, of Cardington, crashed into some farm fence and posts on Morrow County Road 28, just outside Cardington, Saturday at 4:30 p.m. The auto apparently slid on the wet gravel road and tore down about 30 feet of fence. The front end of the auto was considerably damaged.

A juvenile picked up by the local patrolmen Saturday night on Route 30S for operating a truck without a license, will appear in Morrow County Juvenile Court on the morning of April 27. The arrest was made upon complaint and a report by residents.

3 Minor Fires In City Reported

City firemen were summoned to the home of Frank Leidig, 314 Chicago Ave., Sunday at 3:58 a.m. when a short circuit in the motor of a furnace blower caused a minor blaze. Damage was estimated at $25 and was confined to the motor. Engines from the Central Station answered the call.

Other calls included one to the William Rush residence, 240 Silver St., Sunday at 4:38 p.m. A minor fuel oil furnace explosion in the basement of the home set fire to some rubbish and old lumber. There was no loss. Engines from the Mark St. and Central Stations were summoned.

Firemen were summoned to the corner of Main and George Sts. Sunday at 10:55 p.m. An automobile belonging to Kerr Conkle, 677 Davids St., had become heated when the emergency brake was left on while the vehicle was moving. There was no loss.

The rear end of a car driven by Nina M. Crabtree of near Morral was damaged slightly when struck by a car driven by Ruth M. McGuire of Prospect at W. Center and Prospect Sts. at 11:46 a.m. Saturday. Both were traveling south on N. Prospect St.

Cars driven by Santley McCombs, 49, of 138 Canby Ct. and Mrs. Ethel Stansberry of near Marion were damaged slightly in a mishap at E. Center and S. State Sts. at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

A collision at Silver and Mary Sts. at 11:40 p.m. Friday resulted in considerable damage to cars driven by Delbert Stoneburner, 18, of 670 Meadow St. and Joseph Treadway, 22, of 442 Mary St. Stoneburner was driving west on Silver St. and Treadway was headed east on Silver St., police reported.

Man Fined $75 On Two Charges

A Marion man was fined a total of $75 and costs in Municipal Court today on two charges of assault and battery and resisting arrest.

Ellis Craft, 27, of 484 Decatur St. was arrested at 160 N. State St. at 7:09 p.m. Saturday on a warrant signed by his wife Pauline, charging him with attacking her in the Marion County Courthouse on Friday.

As police officers were leading Craft down the street he broke away and ran east on Mill St., they reported. Turning south at the north-south alley east of N. State St. he ran toward the Ohio Edison Co. substation where he scaled a fence gate, ran through the property over another fence and finally hid in a garage on McWilliams Ct. where police cornered him, they said.

Craft was fined $50 on the assault and battery warrant and $25 on the resisting arrest charge when he pleaded guilty to both counts.

A West Virginia man was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty to intoxication and disorderly conduct on a C. and O. Railroad passenger train Saturday night.

Manuel T. Cable of Mammouth, W. Va., was taken from Train 46 at the Union Depot on W. Center St. at 9:51 p.m. Saturday by C. and O. detective Frost. Frost said passengers complained Cable was using vulgar and profane language and was molesting other passengers.

CROWN CAVALCADE No. 1

CROWN CAVALCADE — The PREDECESSORS of ELIZABETH II

Introduction by CLARK KINNAIRD, American historian

THE kingdom of which Elizabeth II becomes the anointed and crowned queen regnant on June 2, is so old that the date of its beginning cannot be stated exactly. She is connected by blood in some degree with English sovereigns all the way back to the 11th century, when William I made himself the first ruler of all England. Before William's era, it was split in small realms —Northumbria, Mercia, Cornwall, Kent, Essex, Sussex and Wessex were some of them. Individual rulers periodically succeeded in making themselves overlords of several of these, but England did not begin to be one unified country until Alfred I became ruler of Wessex in 871 A.D. Alfred is not to be confused with Arthur, the hero king in the popular tales of the Knights of the Round Table. Factually, Arthur is as shadowy a figure in history as Boadicea, an amazonian queen credited with leading a revolt of Britons against Roman rule in the time of Nero. If Arthur existed, he probably was a chieftain in Cornwall. On the other hand, Alfred was overlord or king of all of England except the portions held by Danes, who subjected England to invasions throughout the 9th century. Weaker men followed him and in the 10th century, the Danes threatened to complete the conquest of all the English kingdoms. Barons of the principal realms acted in the common interest and voluntarily chose a Wessex princeling, Edward the Confessor, as their sovereign overlord. Edward laid foundations of the present structure of English government. He gave Parliament a permanent form. His brother-in-law, Harold II, put himself in the position of Edward's heir and took the throne upon Edward's death. This brought him into conflict with Duke William of Normandy, who had a doubtful claim to the English crown. William invaded England in 1066 with an army of Normans and soldiers-of-fortune and defeated and killed Harold II—last Anglo-Saxon king—in the Battle of Hastings. It was one of the great turning points of history.

The story of the England with which one-third of the world is tied by language, common law and culture, really begins with William. Therefore, this pictorial series in which Elizabeth II's predecessors pass in review starts with him tomorrow.

No Progress In Oatis Case, AP Reports

Efforts To Obtain Newsman's Release From Czechs Fail

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Directors of The Associated Press said today there has been no "substantial, discernible progress" toward obtaining the release of William N. Oatis from a Czechoslovakian jail.

Oatis, chief of the AP bureau in Prague, was jailed two years ago on charges of espionage. He is under a 10-year sentence.

The board noted also, in its report for the annual membership meeting of The Associated Press, world-wide news-gathering co-operative, that another AP employe, photographer Frank Noel, is still a prisoner of war in Korea.

"Freedom-loving people everywhere continue to denounce the detention of Oatis and demand his release," the board said. "The Czech government thus far has turned a deaf ear to pleas based on humanitarianism and has been equally unresponsive to the economic and political pressures imposed as a result of the treatment of Oatis. It is the board's fervent hope that before the members assemble again, Oatis' freedom will have been restored."

The board said available information indicated that both Oatis and Noel are in "reasonably good health and receiving humane treatment. Prolonged incarceration, however, must be as galling to them as our failure to effect their release is frustrating to us."

"Every possible effort is being exerted in their behalf," the board said.

The board presented its report for a business meeting of members prior to the annual luncheon, at which Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey was to speak.

The members voted for six directors and considered applications of 12 associate members for regular AP membership. The results of the election for directors will not be known until late tonight.

In its report, the board said the past year was one of "continuing accomplishment" by The AP. The board said the scope and content of the news report won repeated praise from the membership; news and newsphoto services were extended to distant parts of the world, and operation of Teletypesetter service became nation-wide.

Noting that hundreds of editors and publisher members are giving their time to AP affairs, the board said:

"It becomes increasingly evident that the future of The Associated Press depends upon continued and strengthened membership co-operation in both the news report and in the affairs of the organization. It is gratifying to note that this fact is recognized by the overwhelming majority of its members, who take pride in their contributions to the news report."

Commenting upon coverage of the 1952 presidential election campaign, the inauguration of the Eisenhower Administration, the death of Stalin and subsequent events in Russia, the board said:

"At no previous time has so great a premium been placed, not alone on alert, careful and accurate news reporting, but upon reporting the signifiance of the news as well as the bare facts of the news. In skilled hands this can be accomplished without loss of objectivity."

At the close of 1952, The AP served 6,048 newspapers, radio stations and other publications throughout the world. This figure included 1,725 newspapers and 1,296 radio stations in the United States and 3,138 media in 69 other countries.

Associated Press directors whose terms are expiring, all of whom have been renominated, are:

Robert McLean of the Philadelphia Bulletin, Norman Chandler of the Los Angeles Times, Paul Miller of the Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat and Chronicle, Robert B. Choate of the Boston Herald, James M. North Jr. of the Ft. Worth Star Telegram and Harry F. Byrd Jr. of the Winchester (Va.) Evening Star.

Nominated with them were Harold A. Fitzgerald of the Pontiac (Mich.) Daily Press, Buell W. Hudson of the Woonsocket (R. I.) Call and Evening Reporter, Clarence B. Hanson Jr. of the Birmingham (Ala.) Sunday News, Charles P. Manship Jr. of the Baton Rouge (La.) State Times, Carl P. Slane of the Peoria (Ill.) Journal and Transcript and Clyde E. Palmer of the El Dorado (Ark.) Daily News.

The directorship for which Byrd and Palmer were nominated gives representation on the board to newspapers in cities with less than 50,000 population.

The AP meeting will act upon applications for regular membership from the following associate members:

The Compton (Calif.) Daily Star-Journal, the Sarasota (Fla.) Herald-Tribune, the Elwood (Ind.) Call-Leader, the Hammond (Ind.) Times, the Greenville (Mich.) Daily News, the Somerville (N. J.) Somerset Star, the Bath (N. Y.) Steuben Advocate, the Circleville (Ohio) Herald, the Chester (Pa.) Times, the Honesdale (Pa.) Citizen-Times, the Lansdale (Pa.) North Penn Reporter and the Levelland (Tex.) Daily Sun-News.

Schedule Examination For Bucyrus Post

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Notification that a new examination will be held for the Bucyrus postmastership was received today by about a dozen applicants for the post.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission said a previous examination, which had a deadline of Jan. 27, has been cancelled and that another examination will be called at a later date. The commission said cancellation was called because of higher standards of eligibility for the jobs as set by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield last month.

Richard L. Hartzer, former Democratic mayor, has been acting as postmaster here since July 1, 1951.

OPEN GALION MARKET

GALION—Earl Miller and family are returning to Galion where Mr. Miller plans to open the Amann Drive-In Market at 860 Harding Way West, on May 1. The market was purchased by Mr. Miller from William Amann, former Galion mayor. The market will be converted into a self-serve store and will be opened under the new name of "stop N Shop."

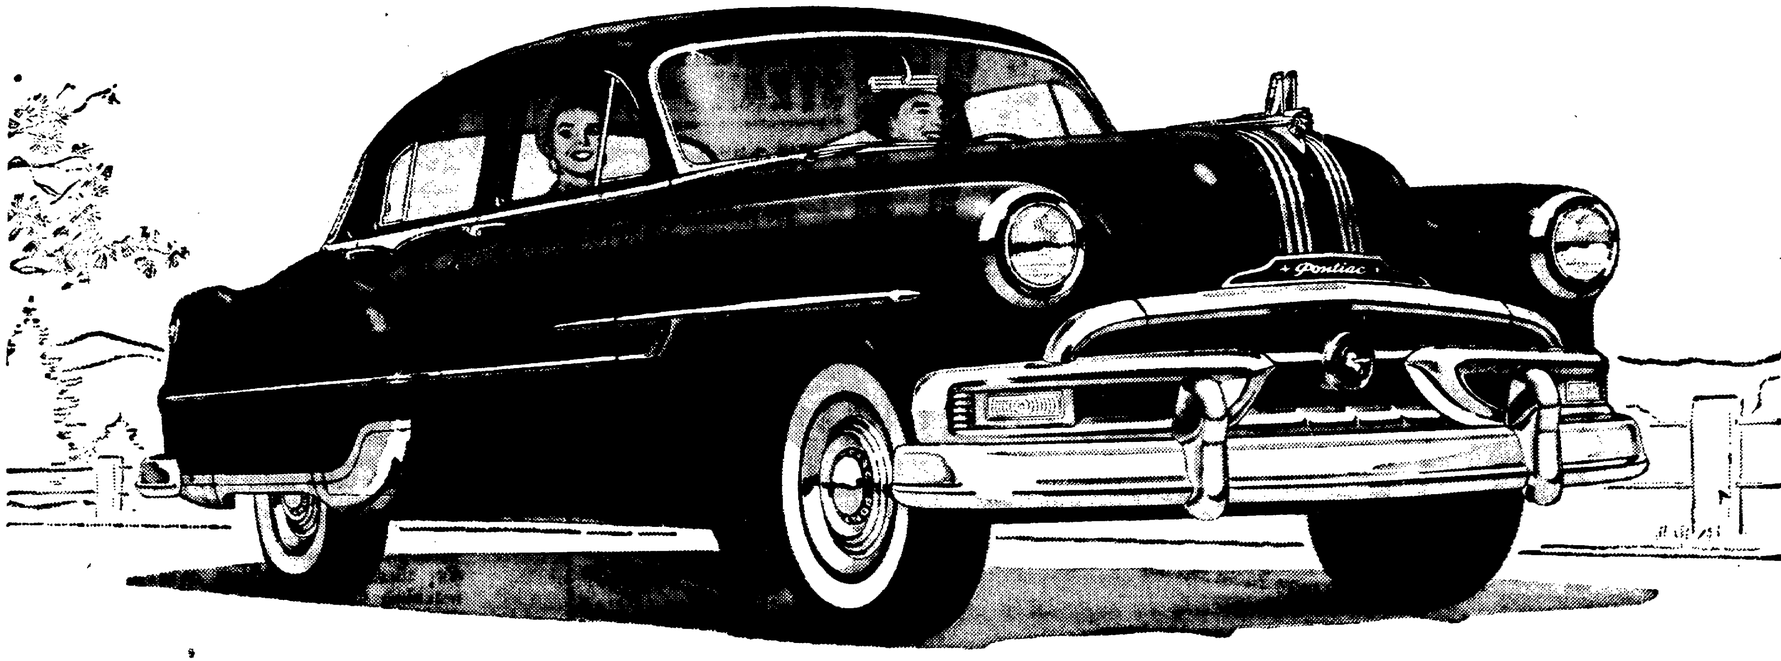
Pontiac

A GENERAL MOTORS MASTERPIECE



A Very Proud Car—At A Very Modest Price!

According to Webster, one of the important meanings of the word proud is this: "Worthy of admiration; deserving praise."

Obviously, that definition fits the 1953 Pontiac like a glove. Pontiac's distinctive Silver-Streak beauty is certainly worthy of admiration—and gets plenty of it everywhere. Pontiac's big-car roominess, its luxurious Body by Fisher, its smooth, easy-going ride—certainly these, too, are deserving of the praise they get.

And when you sit behind the wheel and feel the effortless surge from Pontiac's famous power plant you'll know that you're driving a mighty proud performer.

As a matter of fact, the only modest thing about a Pontiac is its price—for this wonderful car which gives you the engineering quality and the best features of the costliest cars is priced just above the very lowest!

And when you're figuring price, be sure to remember Pontiac's remarkable re-sale value—the sure test of long-lasting quality. Why not come in and see how easily you, too, can become the proud owner of a new Pontiac?

HIGHLIGHTS OF PONTIAC QUALITY AND VALUE!

Inside Labor

Mystery Man

By Victor Riesel

If the biggest Mr. Fix of all, the "Silent Dutchman," Henry Grunewald, had made good his nickname and not talked, only a handful of people would ever have known the name of the "mystery" man who got into the highest government offices, including the White House, for John L. Lewis and "Big Bill" Hutcheson during the past 15 years.

RIESEL

The shadowy "mystery" man used by these powerful labor chiefs to make backstage contacts with political leaders whom the influential union leaders were attacking publicly, has for years gone in and out of the White House office of John R. Steelman, former "assistant president" of the U.S.

Yet the intermediary never hit the public spotlight until a few days ago when Grunewald testified that the "mystery" man had hired him to investigate the late Judge Alan Goldsborough for John L. Lewis. But that was just one of a hundred chores the "mystery" man, Lowell Mayberry, has done for John L.

THE LATEST efforts of the wraithy Mr. Mayberry, it is said, were aimed at rewinning prestige for Mr. Lewis in the Eisenhower administration after the coal diggers guessed wrong and backed Adlai Stevenson last year.

Lewis has always worked quietly with someone behind the scenes in the White House while publicly lambasting the harassed incumbent presidents of the U.S.

During most of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations John L. feuded with the chief executives, but had free access and easy communication with the Steelman labor trouble-shooting office.

Much of that contact with Steelman was via Mayberry who frequently conferred with the "assistant president" on coal crises.

Who is this mysterious Mayberry, who had such powerful contacts and yet was virtually unknown even to top echelon AFL and CIO chiefs — and who for years sat in on the most confidential discussions of policy with Lewis himself when few others in the CIO, or even in the Miners Union, were permitted any knowledge of strategy to come?

Lowell Mayberry, today in his early 60's, is a short, stocky, trim fellow out of Boston. Until recently, this very personable, highly educated, conservatively dressed professional intermediary, operated out of a small, two-room office in a New York City Madison Avenue skyscraper.

A TERRIFIC golfer, he'd frequently head for his home at Falmouth, on the Cape in Massachusetts. When in the Capital, our "mystery" man would work out of the Hotel Washington, only a few streets from John Lewis' headquarters.

Years ago he counselled the Carpenters' Union chief, "Big Bill" Hutcheson, when "Hutch" virtually ran the AFL. "Big Bill" and John L. were close friends at the time and the burly carpenter recommended Mayberry to Lewis for delicate inside work in Congress and the White House.

Lewis and Mayberry hit it off. And for good reason. The polished Bostonian literally sat in awe of the son of a coaldigger. He would listen to Lewis by the hour.

Mutual friends have described Mayberry as a man with a "steel trap mind who could snap on to one of Lewis' ideas and crack it open."

After long discussions, Mayberry would, in effect, be Lewis' leg man. If there was a job on the Hill, a squeeze play to work out to save a bad strike situation, Lowell Mayberry would taxi up to the Senate or House offices of the most powerful party leaders.

THE NEXT day the headlines would announce that the Speaker of the House had suddenly moved in to save the nation from crisis and a deep freeze. Or a prominent senator would offer his services to bring labor and management together.

Undoubtedly Lowell Mayberry was paid for this sort of leg-lobbying, since one can't live long on even the irradiance of Lewis' smile. But there never was any passing of money to the men on the Hill or in the White House.

Mayberry knew them all because they came out of intermingled social sets in New England. He was a close friend of New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges. He knew Massachusetts' Rep. Joseph Martin.

He was in fact bi-partisan — so long as it served John L. and the miners.

Thus, through either Steelman or Mayberry's New England friends, Lewis was always close to the White House. And to others, too. Regularly, there were hints of Lewis' seemingly strange and sudden contacts with powerful in-

VFW Auxiliary Sets Poppy Sale

Plans for the annual Buddy Poppy Sale to be conducted May 15 and 16 were discussed when the auxiliary of Gehren-Thomas VFW Post 3313 met Wednesday. Presiding at this meeting was Mrs. Helen Burklew.

Mrs. Esther Burgess was appointed chairman of the sale.

Plans were also discussed about the auxiliary's participation in a caravan to the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital on National Hospital Day, May 3.

The Tenth District will treat Building No. 27, to which the local auxiliary voted a contribution of $10.

Tenth district auxiliaries and posts will assemble at the north city limits of Circleville at the intersection of Routes 23 and 104 at 8:30 a.m. on May 3, and then proceed in a caravan to the hospital.

Mrs. Dorothy Beckel of Marion is president of the District 10 auxiliaries.

ENTERTAINS CLASS

When the First Evangelical and Reformed Church Women's Guild Missionary Circle met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Roland Augenstein on Windsor St., Mrs. Margaret Mochel reviewed "Jungles Ahead." Devotions were by Mrs. C. E. Stauffer, and roll call was answered with "Thoughts on the Resurrection." Mrs. Francis Reardon read a letter from India thanking the group for bandages for a leper hospital. A report was given of 42 goodwill calls made. Mrs. Chester Morris closed the meeting by reading prayer from the prayer calendar.

Tender Memories

By Inez Robb

One of the most popular musicals on Broadway devotes two Damon Runyonesque acts to singing the praises of "the oldest, established, permanent floating crap game in New York."

INEZ ROBB

Today's essay will hymn the completion of the oldest, established, permanent bath-room tiling job, home-style on the Eastern seaboard.

After four years, which at least seemed long, the head of clan Robb has at last finished tiling the bathroom at Wild Oat. It was a tough job, mom, but he won!

We fell in love five years ago with Wild Oat for many reasons. Not the least of these was a completely-modern kitchen. The first such apparition we had seen in the thousands of old farmhouses through which the real estate boys had detoured us in our search for a place in which we could get away from it all. Ha!

THE OTHER farmhouses had kitchens, alright. But in nine cases out of ten, the kitchens had merely been up-dated, by hanging a crane in the fireplace.

Wild Oat also boasted modern plumbing and an excellent and commodious bathroom. But one thing about it puzzled us: Why hadn't whatever previous city slicker, who had modernized Wild Oat, also tiled the bathroom?

So, after buying the place, we light-heartedly asked a contractor for an estimate on tiling the bathroom. When the estimate arrived, we thought at first he had misunderstood and was tiling with pigeon blood rubies.

BUT NO, the contractor said, it was labor, not rubies. I am always a little hazy about figures, but as I recall, it cost either $5 per man hour or $5 per square foot to persuade the local Michelangelo to pick up his trowel and set tile.

However, about that time, we had a weekend guest, a plastics expert, who assured us any fool (flatterer!) could tile a bathroom with plastic tile. Just to prove it, he came back the next weekend with a load of tile and gallons of the gook that makes tile stick to the wall.

It was so simple that after he showed Mr. R how to do it, Larry spent the balance of the weekend resting up in the hammock.

Thus began the long, dedicated task. Of course, one circumstance that held up the job is the fact we ran out of tile after the first two years. We spent the next two in a vain attempt to match the original, futilely beseeching plastic producers throughout the northern hemisphere to come to our aid.

FINALLY, Mr. R., his spirit broken by the long search, bought enough plain white tile this spring to finish the job, and a very handsome one, too.

Do not think the long task was without its hazards! There was the day Mr. R., intent on fitting a tile into a trick corner, dropped some of the gook and glued himself to the floor.

I had to serve luncheon in the bathroom that day while a combination of turpentine, grain alcohol and detergent for the dishwasher ate impartially at the gook and the soles of his feet.

That was also the day the screen fell out of the bathroom window, and I sat accidentally on a wasp which retaliated on purpose.

Oh, we shall not soon forget this non-stop task though it is finished at long last. It has many tender memories.

Honor Lykens Operator At Columbus Session

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—The Ohio Independent Telephone Association is honoring Mrs. Warren Keller of nearby Lykens during its three-day convention opening today in Columbus.

Mrs. Keller, now 65, claims the distinction of having served the longest of any independent company operator in Ohio. She began with the Lykens firm 43 years ago. Employes of more than 200 independent companies serving 72 per cent of Ohio competed for the title.

At the convention, Mrs. Keller will be awarded a prize, floral tributes and will have an outline of her career read to the delegates.

Mrs. Keller operates a switchboard, providing service for 164 subscribers.

Inquest Set in Fire Killing 34 in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Haber Corp. officials will be subpoenaed for an inquest "in minute detail" into a factory fire Thursday in which at least 34 employes died, Coroner Walter E. McCarron said yesterday.

McCarron said investigation showed the building was under repair and had only one fire escape. Bodies of three men and three women were found near that fire escape on the third floor level yesterday, raising the death toll to 34.

Protected Home Circle Plans Sale

Mrs. Dessie Carpenter, president, conducted the Friday night meeting of the Protected Home Circle in IOOF Hall. The application for membership was accepted. Several members are planning to attend the district meeting in Dayton on April 25. Degrees will be conferred by a team from Hamilton.

Special awards went to Mrs. Evelyn England, Mrs. Bertha Bailey, Mrs. Geneva Miller, C. I. Smithson and Chester Dailey. Coffee and cake were served after the close of the meeting by the guardians' committee. The May 1 meeting will feature a white elephant sale.

Insurance Agents Assoc. Aids Jaycees in Traffic Safety Sign

The Marion County Association of Insurance Agents is assisting the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce in erecting a safety board at the intersection of Main and Center Streets in front of the Courthouse.

The two groups, in an effort to keep Marionites safety-minded, are carrying out the project in cooperation with the Marion Police Department.

The board, to be placed in operation some time this week, will list the days since the last traffic death, traffic accidents this year, and traffic injuries this year.

The red light on an electrically operated replica of a traffic light will indicate the occurrence of fatal accident by burning for three days following a fatal accident. A green light will be on the rest of the time, with an inscription, "Let's keep the light green," appearing near the traffic light.

Keeping the board up to date will be the responsibility of the Marion Police Department. Statistics to appear on the board will be compiled by the police from their reports of traffic accidents occurring in the city this year. Figures from the current year only will be used, Police Chief Tom Coon explained, to enable Marion to compete with other similar-size cities in the state in a traffic safety contest.

Last fatal traffic accident in Marion occurred Oct. 7, 1952, the police chief reported.

Planning the board project for the Junior Chamber of Commerce were W. J. Flach, Grant Fletcher and Charles Peters. Members of the insurance agents' association serving on the committee were F. Howard Lawson, J. D. Torrance, Robert Cunningham, Robert Murphy, Bernard Smith, Frank Knapp John Smith, John Mills, Harry Hammond, and Edward McAndrew.

Size of the board is approximately ten feet square.

Pre-School Conference Schedules Changed

World's newest V8

Big travelers, be seated!

THIS is an invitation to you who need and like room when you travel—and are wondering where to get it.

This is an invitation to take your ease in a sampling of the 1953 Buick SUPER Riviera Sedan.

Talk about room (and you will!)—here is the roomiest six-passenger sedan made in America.

Here you will find headroom, hiproom, legroom and kneeroom so generous—big people beam.

The tall, the portly—and the in-between—they can all spread out and stretch out, and really feel unfettered.

But the marvel of this Buick roominess is the wondrous ease of handling that goes with it.

The world's newest V8 Engine is one reason—an engine so compact it permits a chassis with short turning radius, wider front tread, easier steering, better balance.

Twin-Turbine Dynaflow* with its dazzling new getaway and silky smoothness is another. Power Steering* is still another.

And there's an AIRCONDITIONER,† too!

The thing to do, of course, is to visit us and try one of these great Buicks for room, for ride, for power—and for sheer comfort and pleasure. Why not make it soon?

52,000 Jobs Go Begging

Washington (AP)—More than 52,000 jobs are going begging, despite a nation-wide search for qualified workers to fill them, the Labor Department said today.

Of the total jobs available, the department said in a statement, the toughest to fill are in these categories: mechanical engineers, tool and die makers, elementary school teachers, machine shop workers and unskilled automobile workers.

None of the jobs can be filled from local labor supplies, the statement said, and the search is now going on "through out-of-area and out-of-state recruitment in which federal and state governments are co-operating.

TOWNSEND CLUB MEETS

Mrs. William Diem gave a talk on the aims and work of the League of Women Voters at the third educational program of Marion Townsend Club No. 4 when it met recently at the Central Labor Union Hall. She stressed the need to know "who" and "what" we are voting for. That can be done only through the study of candidates and issues before elections. she said, in order to vote intelligently. Discussion followed. Mrs. Effie Noe was in charge of the program, a feature of which was a piano solo by Linnea Gonzalez, and group singing. A short business session preceded the talk. The problem of giving the old folks in the rest homes, who are able, a chance to attend church services on Sundays was discussed.

Clark Fouts Appointed To County Board

Husband, Wife Now Members Of Visitors Group

With appointment of Clark Fouts as a member of the Marion County Board of Visitors, a husband and wife team will be serving on the board.

Fouts, principal of Vernon Junior High School, was appointed by Probate Judge Edward J. Ruzzo to fill the board vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Florence Young, whose term ran until April 30.

At the same time, Judge Ruzzo renewed the term of Mrs. Fouts which also was scheduled to expire on April 30.

Also on the board are Mrs. Paul Frye and Mrs. Catherine Harruff, whose terms expire on April 30, 1954, and Miss Mary Jo Stafford and Mrs. Gertrude Lewis, with terms expiring on April 30, 1955.

Board's Duties

Purpose of the board, provided by Ohio statutes, is annual inspection of the County Infirmary, Detention Home, and Children's Home. Ohio statutes require the board to be composed of six persons, not more than three of whom shall have the same political affiliations.

Appointments to the board are made by the probate judge of the county and continue for a period of three years. It is the duty of the members, who serve without compensation, to keep themselves advisd on the condition and the management of the three institutions.

Reports Filed

After making periodic visits, the board files a report with the judge by Dec. 15 of each year. The court then files a copy of the report with the county commissioners, the prosecuting attorney, and the State Department of Welfare.

Ohio law also provides that from time to time the board shall recommend to the county commissioners and other officials such changes and additional provisions they deem essential for the economical and efficient administration of the county institutions, Judge Ruzzo said.

Spanish War Vets Hold Muster Day

The annual muster day ceremony was conducted by members of Marion Camp No. 32, United Spanish War Veterans Friday when they met in a joint session with Betsy Ross Auxiliary, No. 14, in the Grotto Hall. A dinner, at which covers were placed for 46 members and guests, was a social feature of the day. Guests were from Kenton and Forest.

Walter H. Melby, commander of the camp, conducted the ceremony in which the veterans renewed their pledge of allegiance to their country. A talk was given by Dale Shields of Forest, senior vice commander of Ohio.

In a separate session members of the auxiliary held a brief business session with Mrs. Gertrude Andrews, president, in charge. A contribution of $10 was made to the state organization. Mrs. Blanche Morrison was named a delegate and Mrs. Minnie Nedds, alternate to the department convention to be held in Columbus in June.

Mrs. Dale Shields of Forest, presented a program on the activities of the auxiliary in Honduras. She was assisted by Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Emma Bondley.

Announcement was made of the annual Booster meeting to be held May 10 at Fostoria. A number of veterans and auxiliary members plan to attend.

In Memory

Of Harold Raymond Trafzer who passed away one year ago today.
There's a face that is haunting as ever,
There's a noice that we're longing to hear,
There's a smile we'll remember forever,
Though we try to forget every tear.
There's a sad but sweet remembrance,
There's a memory fond and true,
There's a token of affection dear,
And heartache still for you.

Wife, Mrs. Marie Trafzer and Daughter, Pamela. —Ad.

B&O Conductor's Luck Runs Out

MARIETTA, O. (AP)—For the third time in less than two months, a Baltimore and Ohio freight train was derailed Sunday night on a five-mile stretch of track near Williamstown, W. Va.

And, for the third time, J. W. Shriver of Parkersburg, W. Va., was the conductor. Sunday night's derailment involved 11 cars of an 81-car train enroute from Parkersburg to Clarksburg, W. Va. They went off the track two miles east of Williamstown. As in the previous derailments, a broken rail was blamed.

There were no injuries and no damage estimate was reported.

Youths Steal Car While Owner Watches

Theft of an automobile by two youths Sunday afternoon was reported today by Marion police.

R. O. Schell of Bucyrus, called at 2 p.m. to report the theft. He said two young men or boys took his car from in front of 175 W. Walnut St. He said they came walking along the street, got in the car and drove off before anyone could stop them.

Police were continuing their search for the 1949 model car and the two youths.

HAROLD DENZER JR.

Miss Barbara Wolfe will be the guest pianist and Rudy Von Unruh will be the featured instrumentalist Tuesday evening when the Marion Serenaders, under the direction of L. G. Jones, present a spring concert at Edison Junior High School auditorium. Harold Denzer Jr., will be the accompanist.

Miss Wolfe, a senior at Harding High School, is active in the band, orchestra, and string ensemble there. She is a member of Chi of Ohio, local chapter of National Society of Pi Mu, a member of the Lecture Recital Club, was selected to appear with the Horace Heidt Show in March, and boradcast over WMRN for the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs program. Her selections for the piano will be "Second Mazurka," by Godard and "Fantaisie Impromptu" by Chopin.

Mr. Von Unruh, an instructor of instrumental music in the city schools, is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., and Amherst College in Amherst, Mass., majoring in music at both schools. He has selected for

Gideons Distribute 186 Testaments

Reports on distribution of Bibles and Testaments were given when the Marion Camp of Gideons and the auxiliary held a dinner meeting Tuesday night at the community rooms of the West Town Branch of National City Bank. Guest musicians on the program were Miss Lois Roddy, who sang and Miss Mary Kathryn Jobe, her accompanist. Other guests were Mrs. Melvin Sharrock, Mrs. Lulu Corwin, Miss Arena Hinds, Miss Colleen Marie Jobe, Miss Karolyn Kay Wilson, and Richard Zachman. H. J. Klinefelter offered prayer before the meal. Chorus singing, led by Clifford Ward, was accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Donaugh. Prayers were by Raymond Donaugh and Melvin Sharrock.

Devotions by C. R. Rice were on the life of the Christian martyr, Stephen. Mr. Rice said that Christians, like Stephen of old, "are commissioned to show the people that we have something that the world does not have. We limit the power of God because we do not have the witness of the Holy Spirit in our lives." Separate business sessions were held by the men and by the auxiliary in charge of Leslie Adams, vice president, and Mrs. Harry Crowner, respectively.

It was reported that 186 Testamenis have been given out to the fifth and sixth grades of the Green Camp, Martel, Claridon and New Bloomington Schools. The Auxiliary reported 68 Testaments distributed to nurses and nurses' aids at Marysville and at Deleware, in doctors' offices and at hospitals, and at the Marysville reformatory for women. Miss Hinds led devotions at the close of the auxiliary meeting.

The convention May 1-3 at Lima was discussed. Mrs. Paul Zachman, who is in charge of transportation, announced that anyone needing a way to travel, or anyone having room for passengers in their cars are to get in touch with her.

Russian Victory

By George Sokolsky

Unless the fighting in Korea is a war, it cannot end in a peace. That is undoubtedly the difficulty that the various statesmen face.

SOKOLSKY

Also, if the two principals in all this are not the United States and Soviet Russia, who are they? If North Korea is one of the principals, why is not South Korea the other?

Like so much else that has been happening in our world since 1938, nothing ever comes out mathematically.

FOR INSTANCE, the European War started in 1939, because Germany, assisted by Russia, violated the territorial sovereignty of Poland, and a few treaties as well.

When the war was ostensibly over, Soviet Russia owned Poland, which had practically ceased to be a sovereign country.

At Potsdam, it was agreed that a number of countries that had been "liberated" from the Germans were to establish governments of their own choice by "democratic means." This has not happened.

Instead, these countries were conquered, as though by war, by Russia. Yet, the Russians are members of the United Nations as a "peace-loving country," while Spain and Ireland, which conquered no peoples, are excluded from the United Nations.

NATIONALIST China, the recognized government of that country since 1927, fought Japan since 1931, our ally since 1941, has been driven off the Asiatic continent through the errors of judgment and methods of Gen. George Marshall and has been forced to take refuge on the island of Formosa; yet Marshall is extolled and honored by being appointed to represent our nation at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. But Gen. MacArthur, who heroically fought in the field in Asia, is selling electric razors and typewriters.

This topsy-turvyism finds Georgi Malenkov proposing a peace, designed not to establish universal peace, or even the coexistence about which the Russians speak so freely, as though it were a respite for us from death, but rather to separate us from our allies and to isolate the United States from all the countries we have been aiding to the amount of about $100,000,000,000 of the earnings of the American people.

And some of our allies would prefer to be separated because they want trade, not aid, and believe that the trade of Russia and China is worth more than the friendship of the United States, which twice went to their rescue with blood and treasure.

S. BERNARD, member of the Institut Emile Vandervelde of Brussels, Belgium, a Socialist, writing in "World Politics," makes this notable point:

"Having created the United Nations in the image of their moral and legalistic conception of international society, the Western powers proceeded to make particularly dangerous use of it; they protested systematically — and for reasons of pure principle—against the integration of the Eastern European countries into the Soviet bloc.

"This extension of the Soviet zone of influence was, after all, the logical consequence of Russia's victory over Germany. By agreeing to this development in advance at Yalta, the Western powers accepted an historical calamity. Once Germany had been defeated and disarmed, Russia became naturally the leading power in that part of Europe.

"It would have required a war to prevent the USSR from reaping this gain, as it would now require a war to expel her from Eastern Europe."

WHILE THIS is a correct view, it is notable that Bernard speaks of "Russia's victory over Germany." This is a characteristic European point of view, as though the United States were never in the European War at all.

They do not even recall that the Americans could have taken Berlin and Prague but waited for the slower Russians to come up and to claim victory.

They do not even note that the Americans could have held the whole of Berlin but that stupidity dictated a policy of letting the Russians take that pivotal city, giving us a zone with neither an entrance nor an exit.

And so, naturally, it is a Russian victory, for what else can it be? And if we are not careful, it will be a Russian victory in Korea and His Marxian Excellency, Chou En-lai, will sit in the United Nations on the East River in New York, joining Vishinsky in Stalinist obscenities against the United States.

It could happen in the extraordinary confusions characteristic of the Acheson school of diplomacy, which still hangs over the State Department despite a Republican victory.

Ike, Taft Play Golf At Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower and Senate Republican Leader Taft — a couple of golfers somewhat unhappy about their scores—hope to do better in another joust with par today.

The President and the Ohio senator played 18 holes at the Augusta National course yesterday but kept their tallies a deep secret.

"They said both their scores were so bad they didn't want anyone to know," Presidential Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters, who were barred from the course.

Hagerty said he tried hard to learn the scores but got only an indication "they were pretty high."

The only other time Eisenhower and Taft played together — two weeks ago in Washington—the President shot a 93 for 18 holes and the senator had a 94.

Eisenhower and the man he defeated for the GOP presidential nomination planned to play another round today before Taft returns to Washington. He was scheduled to leave in the afternoon.

Hagerty said the President had decided to put off his own return to the capital until Tuesday at the earliest, instead of going back today as he had planned.

"He wants to play more golf," Hagerty explained.

Taft flew in from Washington yesterday morning as the President was returning to the golf club, where he has been vacationing for the last week, from church services.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

Occasionally when a needed insurance coverage is suggested, the person will reply, "Don't talk to me about that. I'm already INSURANCE POOR."

Usually, though, it develops that he merely means that he is carrying several policies and would rather use the additional money to buy something else. That is understandable. We all enjoy spending money. And our "desire" often exceed the available funds.

Earl J. Andrews

Nevertheless, the right kind of insurance protection should rank near the top of the list of items that are really important. For, the only truly "Insurance Poor" person, is the one that is without protection when he needs it. A major financial loss from any one of many different hazards may consume his savings and all his other assets.

Don't become "Poor" from lack of the proper Insurance. Let us arrange a careful Insurance program for you, at the most reasonable cost possible.

Gabler To Help Evaluate School Trades Courses

Cecil W. Gabler, principal at the Harding High School, will serve on a committee to evaluate vocational trades and industries courses in Ohio high schools at a conference Tuesday and Wednesday at Ashtabula.

The conference is being held by the Division of Vocational Education of the State Department of Education in an effort to determine the effectiveness of the programs. The state department has been working since the 1950-51 school year in developing a means of evaluating such a program and has called in a team from all over Ohio to do the evaluating.

The two-day conference will be performed through actual observation of the Ashtabula program and through interviews with school officials, students, instructors and representatives of the city. Charles A. Meister, supervisor of the host school's program, is in charge of making arrangements for the conference.

Members of the committee in addition of Gabler include teachers from Kent State University, Wadsworth High School, Barberton, Canton Timkin High School, Cleveland Trades School, Portsmouth, Ashland, Massillon and Akron.

Letters From Our Readers

SAFE DRIVER AWARDS

Editor of The Star: It is a well-established fact that many drivers of automotive vehicles today are becoming more and more careless. We also know that a driver may be fined or arrested for careless or reckless driving. What happens then? He either pays a fine, is sent to jail for a short time, or he may have his driving license suspended for a year or two What happens after he is once more able to navigate the highways? He forgets the fine, jail sentence, or the temporary loss of his license, and continues on driving in the same reckless manner.

But, I have a plan which I honestly believe would encourage people to operate a motor vehicle in a much more careful manner. I may be wrong, but I honestly believe I may have found the answer.

What we really need to do is to give an operator of a motor car, bus, or truck, an incentive to drive carefully. Give him something to work for, something to be proud of. After he has worked hard enough to attain this award, he will automatically be a much better car operator.

My plan is just this: It seems to me that if every highway patrolman, and also men in plain clothes, operating by authority of the state, were to be equipped with stickers and pins, which they would present to every careful driver they see, it would give folks an incentive to try and be careful. In order to win these citations, and by the time they finally do win the award, they would be such careful drivers that carelessness would be a thing of the past.

This is the way I would distribute the stickers and pins: a highway patrolman or civilian man employed by the state would follow behind cars that are operating on the highway and check them on their tactics in operating a motor vehicle—whether or not they are driving carefully, whether they take chances, or follow all of the "drive safely" rules.

Whenever they come across one who is in their opinion a careful operator and they have followed him far enough to be sure of his ability, they should pull around the car and stop him; this time, not to arrest him or warn him but to present him with two things: first: a sticker for the car, which would prove that someone who operates the vehicle, is a careful driver. Next, they would present the driver with a pin, which he could wear in his coat lapel, to establish that this particular driver has been tested, and found to be careful.

In my opinion, this practice would encourage men, yes! and women too, to drive carefully, and try to win one of these awards. By the time they win one, they would be so used to driving carefully that they would be well established as a well-qualified operator.

I would not stop at highway patrolmen being able to issue these awards, or a civilian patrol which would be qualified to follow suit, but I would also have the city patrolmen issue the same awards to careful drivers for the safe operation of a motor vehicle within the city limits. Then I would have a special pin that could be awarded to a man who has earned a pin for safe operation on a state highway, as well as one for careful operation within city limits, in heavy traffic.

In my opinion, this practice would encourage people to be expert drivers, by giving them something to work for.

Enough folks are apt to criticize a person throughout life. But it seems to me that to give a person a kind word or a little praise, never hurt anybody.

Kellner Posts Second Straight Shutout Over New York

Browns Grab First Place With Win Over Detroit

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sportswriter

The 1953 major league baseball season is going to be chock-full of surprises, if the first week is any criterion.

Just look what happened yesterday, the first Sunday of the campaign, and only the seventh playing day.

1. Alex Kellner, who dropped six of seven decisions to the New York Yankees last year, shut out the world champions for the second time within six days. The tall Philadelphia Athletics' left-hander became the first pitcher in 29 years to blank the Yanks twice in a row, two-hitting them, 3-0, in the second game of yesterday's doubleheader. He turned them back, 5-0, on five hits opening day.

2. Bobby Shantz, who didn't lose two in a row last year until early in September, dropped his second straight start when the Yanks defeated him, 5-2, in the first game. The Yankees also took him to camp, 4-1, last Wednesday.

The St. Louis Browns, generally picked to finish deep in the second division, are leading the American League today with five triumphs in six games. An 11-inning 6-3 win over the Tigers yesterday gave the Browns a sweep of the three-game series in Detroit and extended their winning steak to four in a row.

4. Walter Masterson, discarded by the Red Sox last summer as all washed up, turned on his former mates with a five-hitter, fanning nine, as he pitched the Washington Senators to a 4-0 triumph over Boston.

5. Although they accumulated only nine hits off five Pittsburgh pitchers, the Brooklyn Dodgers were recipients of 14 bases on balls and stole four bases to overwhelm the Pirates, 12-4. The result boosted the Dodgers' first-place lead in the National League to one full game over St. Louis and dropped the Pirates into the cellar with four defeats in five starts.

6. The Cardinals scored two runs on two Milwaukee double plays, enough to give them a 4-3 victory over the Braves in a game that was halted in the first inning because of a snow-flurry. A blinding snow, incidentally, halted the Dodger-Pirate game in Pittsburgh for 37 minutes.

Snow, rain and cold weather only 28 Yankees. A double and triple by Gene Woodling spoiled his bid for a no-hitter. The A's collected 10 hits off loser Jim McDonald and Whitey Ford but Gus Zernial's home run was all Kellner needed. Two-run singles by veteran Johnny Mize and rookie Bill Renna helped Ewell Blackwell to his first game win.

The last time a pitcher shut out the Yankees in two successive starts was in 1934 when Schoolboy Rowe of the Tigers blanked them, 2-0, in New York Aug. 17, and again in Detroit by the same score Sept. 18.

A three-run outburst in the 11th highlighted by Bobby Young's clutch single and daring base-running, gave the Browns their uphill win over Detroit. Relief pitcher Marlin Stuart, former Tiger, gained his second win over his former mates in two days, Satchel Paige, the ageless wonder, saved Stuart's win with a neat relief job, his third in the last four games. Ned Garver, traded by St. Louis to Detroit last August, lost his second straight to his ex-teammates.

Jackie Jensen's double and triple paced the Senators to their first victory of the year.

Roy Campanella and Duke Snider drove in four runs apiece, Jackie Robinson reached base for the eighth straight time and rookie Junior Gilliam stole three bases as the Dodgers made it three in a row over the hapless Pirates.

Stan Musial's first home run, in the fifth inning, snapped a 3-3 tie and gave the Cardinals their second win in three games to boost them into second place.

Bill Bruton, the flashy Braves rookie center fielder, continued his spectacular hitting, collecting two of Milwaukee's eight safeties, to give him 10 hits in 18 times at bat.

Edison Runners Grab 2nd Place

Edison Junior High School's relay team ran second in the half mile relay for junior high schools at the Mansfield Relays Saturday.

The locals toured the course in 1:41.5, finishing behind Mansfield John Simpson's team which won in the time of 1:41. Fourteen schools competed in the event.

In back of Edison were Canton McKinley in third, Cleveland Ben-

SHORT SPORTS
By John Short

We spent an enjoyable afternoon and evening Friday with Gene Fetter and met two of the top high school coaches in Ohio when he renewed his friendships with Mansfield's Bill Peterson and Chuck Mather, Massillon's Mr. Football.

Highlight of the day came on a visit to Mather at Washington High School and later watching him use a television set at the bench to watch his charges in the annual spring warmup game.

SHORT

The game, played in a steady and heavy snowfall, drew some 5,000 fans, a crowd that would cause school officials here to jump with joy.

Many of the fans were visiting football coaches, anxious to get a preview of next season's Massillon powerhouse. Peterson was there, along with Seraph Pope of Lima Central and Mal Mackey of Fremont Ross and mentors of nearly every prep school power in the state. Paul Walker, coach of Middletown's state championship cage crew, attended along with his cagers. In addition college coaches from the midwest were sprinkled liberally through the stands. Harry Stram, Purdue backfield coach, was present along with Fetter from Arizona State College and Clyde Lamb of Ohio Northern.

Mather really crossed the high school boys up. He showed them absolutely nothing in 48 solid minutes of slam-bang football. His varsity squad for next fall battled the seniors to a 6-6 standstill on a field soaked by the snow and rain, by using a variation of about four plays.

Only one conclusion could be reached. The middle of the Tiger line is certain to cause a lot of coaches a lot of headaches during the season. The seniors were unable to dent the middle of the NATIVE DANCER WINS IN GOTHAM STAKES. Native Dancer, Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt's steel-gray 3-year-old son of Polynesian, romps home to an easy two-length win in the first section of the $30,000 Gotham Stakes at Jamaica. The Kentucky Derby hopeful, piloted by Eric Guerin, came up from fourth position in a stretch drive to beat Majic Lamp for his tenth win in a row.

Native Dancer, Derby Entry, Wins Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—Two big $100,000 races coming up in the next two weeks will determine whether Native Dancer earns the right to be mentioned along with Man O'War, Citation, War Admiral, Count Fleet, Whirlaway and other great horses of the American Turf.

Some observers are putting Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's powerful grey galloper into such company now, without waiting for the Wood Memorial at Jamaica next Saturday and the big one — the Kentucky Derby May 2 — not to mention other top races in the season ahead. He is an even money choice to take the Derby.

Native Dancer proved he had lost none of his class Saturday when he made it 10-for-10 in his racing career by toying with eight rival three-year-olds in the first division of the $35,350 Gotham Stakes at Jamaica.

The Dancer completed the Gotham's mile and one sixteenth in 1:44 1-5 and came off the pace in the bargain with Jockey Eric Guerin never once having to unlimber his whip.

At the finish, Native Dancer was two lengths to the good of the Rokeby Stable's Magic Lamp.

Campanella Agrees To Play With Colts

May Be Out 6 Weeks

Cleveland Hopes Dimmed By Loss of Luke Easter

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Indians, their pennant hopes slightly jarred by some ragged fielding and the prospect of six weeks without slugging Luke Easter, planned to work out today in preparation for a home stand.

"It's really a tough break," said Manager Al Lopez of the Easter injury, a broken left foot bone, suffered when he was hit by a pitched ball in Saturday's game with the White Sox.

"Luke had never looked better than he did this spring and he was expecting to have a great season. I only hope he recovers quickly and isn't bothered by the thing all year."

The Tribe's doubleheader Sunday with the White Sox was postponed because of cold weather.

Cleveland's infield play is another source of worry to Lopez. In four games the Indians have had nine errors. Ray Boone and Jim Hegan have each had three. Al Rosen has had two. Bob Avila has had one.

The Indians play the St. Louis Browns Tuesday, and follow with four games with the Detroit Tigers.

Weather Hits Action At Crosley Field

First Sunday Cancellation In 17-Year Period

gusty wind and soggy ground triumphed again Sunday over the impatient Cincinnati Redlegs and Chicago Cubs for the second straight day.

But this time the outcome was a foregone conclusion. Cincinnati shivered under a 3.4-inch snowfall Saturday and it was a hopeful fan indeed who thought a nice, bright sun would repair the damage the next day.

The Redlegs now have been able to play only one game since returning home April 16.

Sunday was the first time in 17 years a Sunday game had to be called off in Cincinnati, although the Redlegs have had to play in some rough weather now and then.

Homefolks now won't be able to see the Redlegs in action here until May 8, when they return home from a 17-day road trip. The Redlegs will be idle today, then shove off to St. Louis to open a two-game series under the lights with the Cardinals Tuesday.

Jump From Sixth To Second in AA

By The Associated Press

Louisville took both games of a Sunday doubleheader from Minneapolis to jump from sixth to second place standing in the American Association.

Indianapolis, which did not play, is alone at the top, having won its only game.

St. Paul split a twin bill with Kansas City in the only other games played Sunday. Today is an open date.

In Louisville, a three-run pinch home run by Bob Broome plus four innings of fine relief pitching by Bob Smith and George Uhaze gave Louisville 7-4 and 7-6 victories.

At Kansas City, Bob Darnell, a Kansas City high school product, pitched St. Paul to a 4-3 victory in the first game but the Saints blew an eight run lead in the nightcap to drop a 9-8 decision.

Snow, rain and cold weather forced postponements of scheduled doubleheaders between Cleveland and the White Sox in Chicago, and Chicago and the Redlegs in Cincinnati. Unplayable weather conditions also wiped out a scheduled game between the Philadelphia Phillies and New York Giants at the Polo Grounds.

Kellner's feat highlighted Sunday's diamond activities. The 28-year-old native of Tucson, Ariz., did not walk a batter. He faced edictine in fourth and Cleveland Central in fifth.

George Whitehead's relay team is composed of Harold Jones, Gary Williams, Lowell McFann and Ted Firstenberger. Runners bucked snow, rain and cold temperature.

The Edison relay team recently placed fourth in the Springfield Relays with time of 1:42.3 in its first appearance. Edison engages Vernon in its first track meet Thursday at the Stadium.

wall at any time.

Two names to remember when next fall rolls around are Roy Johnson, a hefty tackle, and Dave Ashbridge, who backs up the middle of the line. Bruce Schram also served notice he will handle the duties of one defensive end. Willie Longshore and John Francisco were the top ball toters for the coming varsity.

One other piece of bad news for opponents of the Mather football factory is the fact that a small kid named Johnny James is just moving into high school. In case the name is unfamiliar, he's Tommy James' kid brother.

We were convinced that football is a business at Washington High School but don't let anyone sell the rest of the school short. That band is no slouch when it comes to half time entertaining.

Mather's television plan apparently worked to perfection. He spent half the time pacing the sidelines and the other half with his eyes glued to the set. It seemed to be particularly effective with the ball beyond the 25-yard stripes.

Fetter admits he thinks the plan devised by Mather, that of a closed circuit telecast, probably will catch on all across the country.

Montana Woman Wins Link Crown

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Edean Anderson of Montana won like a champion and Mrs. Lyle Bowman of California lost like one.

That was the story today of the 23rd annual Trans-Mississippi golf tournament, which the 23-year-old long hitter from Helena won, 2 up, on the 36th hole Sunday.

Six down at the end of 10 holes, Edean managed to stroke back into contention, square the match on the 31st hole and take the lead on the 32nd. From there on in she held on against the determined efforts of the losing titlist from Richmond, Calif.

Women Keglers Open Convention

DETROIT (AP)—The Women's International Bowling Congress opened up another front today, combining business with bowling.

The WIBC began its two-day annual convention here, with more than 800 delegates in session to determine the path of the organization in the next two years.

Major item of business will be selection of the 1955 tournament site. Omaha, Neb., which played host to the event in 1936; Dayton, O., and Miami, Fla., which never have held the tournament, are the chief bidders.

Meanwhile, bowling continued and few major changes were inflicted on the leaders Sunday.

Betty Richey and Pearl Ackerman, of Cincinnati, O., romped into fourth spot in doubles with 1,128. Margaret Schueller, of Dayton, O., took over fifth in singles with 603.

Harding Cage Coach To Hear "Phog" Allen

George Keel, who recently was named head basketball coach at Harding High School, will attend a dinner meeting of the Columbus District Academy of Osteopathic Medicine Thursday at the Seneca Hotel in Columbus.

Guest speaker will be Forrest C. "Phog" Allen, cage coach at the University of Kansas. Allen was named 1951-52 "basketball coach of the year" on the basis of his Jayhawks' performance. He will address central Ohio high school coaches and members of the Columbus academy on basketball techniques and the prevention and treatment of athletic injuries through the use of taping, bandaging and manipulation.

This is the seventh season that the Washington Redskins football team has trained at Occidental College, Los Angeles, Calif.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Joseph Campanella, a 235-pound tackle last football season with the Dallas Texans, has agreed to play with the Baltimore Colts.

Baltimore is replacing Dallas in the National Football League next season.

The World Today

Problem Without Solution

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — A constant theme runs through the foreign policy statements of the Eisenhower administration: The liberation and independence of the satellite peoples.

But while this may keep the hope of eventual freedom alive among them, no one has come up with a definite answer on how it can be done so long as the Russians don't want it.

During the presidential campaign, Secretary of State Dulles spoke of the "liberation" of the satellites but explained he did not mean by force.

In his speech to the newspaper editors here Thursday, President Eisenhower expressed a desire for the "full independence" of the East European satellites, which are Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

And in his own address to the same group Saturday night, Dulles said any hope of peace with Russia, based on the satellites' remaining satellites, would be an "illusion."

Since Eisenhower and Dulles both emphasized the goal of freeing the satellites from the Russian yoke, the natural question is what can this country do about it?

Dulles and Eisenhower thought it would help sustain the hope of the captive peoples if Congress passed a resolution condemning their enslavement.

But this got tangled up in politics. Eisenhower's own Republicans wouldn't appr[illegible] that this resolution had been sidetracked. He said he was "persuaded," as he hoped the captive peoples were, that Congress shares the President's view.

This country can, of course, broadcast to the people behind the Iron Curtain about American friendship and Russian tyranny, but if it foments revolt the Communists are there to retaliate with mass executions.

Pike Fight Over Asphalt Goes To Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The Ohio Turnpike Commission today turned to the state Supreme Court in its battle with asphalt interests over the paving of the 241-mile superhighway.

The commission was to file an appeal today from a Second District Appeals Court ruling which ordered it to prepare plans and specifications for both Portland cement and asphaltic concrete, and to advertise for bids on both of these types of paving. The commission had prepared only plans for Portland cement.

The appeals court decision was based on a report by its referee, Robert P. Duncan.

The commission, in a brief to be submitted to the Supreme Court, said the Appeals Court erred in finding that the Ohio general code required [illegible]

Harding Ties for 12th in Mansfield Relays

Jack Boxwell Places First In Discus

Harding's track team finished in a tie for 12th place at the Mansfield Relays Friday and Saturday with six points.

The points came as a result of Jack Boxwell's performance in the discus event. Boxwell tossed the discus 135 feet, 3 inches for first in the event.

The relays were won by Springfield High School with 32½ points. Cleveland East Tech, defending champions, came in second with 28 markers.

The four-mile relay team composed of Hugh Kinnamon, Frank Green, Gene Monroe and Fred Price finished a close sixth in the event against 11 other schools on Friday in a down pour rain.

Chet King and Gary Ballinger were in the same preliminary with Harold Wright of Germantown, the state dash champion. Wright won with King beating Ballinger by inches for second place. King then ran fourth in the semi-finals.

Jim Zeigler high jumped 5-6 but missed his 5-8 try which would have given him a tie for second. The mile-relay team of Larry Clinger, Jack Andrews, Fred Hazen and Frank Green ran 3:48.9.

Hard Luck team was the 880 relay outfit of Ballinger, Dick Burtch, Jim Saiter and King. A pass between Ballinger and Burtch was dropped with Burtch coming back to pick it up. Harding went on to win the heat in 1:40 flat, but was in a slow heat. The team would have placed as the 5th place team's time was 1:37.9.

Edison Junior High School placed second in the half-mile relay against other junior high teams.

Participants bucked snow, rain and cold temperature at the relays. It was impossible to get facilities in shape before the bad weather hit, and as a result records were off the usual high standard. Footing in the pole vault was so poor that only nine men of the 45 in the event were able to clear 9-9, the starting height. Broad jumpers had the same trouble with runways, slipping on the take off board..

Fred James of Mansfield wore gloves, a heavy sweat shirt and a cap in addition to his track suit in winning the mile run in 4:48.8. Leon Huffman of Springfield scored 15 points, winning the pole vault and broad jump and placing third in the high hurdles and Al[illegible]

Ford Protects Lead, Wins At Virginia Beach

Shakes Off Role As Hard Luck Guy; Unknown Second

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., has abandoned his role as professional golf's hard luck guy.

He shed the cloak of ill fortune yesterday when he came out on top in the $12,500 Virginia Beach Open. He had rounds of 63-65-67-67 for a 72-hole total of 262. Four other times this year, he had victory practically in the plam of his hand but lost every time.

He gives all of the credit for his victory to his father, Mike Broda, a Yonkers, N. Y., professional of many years.

"My father taught me all I know about golf," 30-year-old Doug said as he picked up his $2,000 check. "All the credit goes to him. He's the only person I've ever really listened to about golf."

Ford came mighty close to missing out on this title. When he started out over the par 69 Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course in yesterday's fourth round, he was worried about three foes—Dick Metz of Maple City, Kan., Francis (Bo) Wininger of Oklahoma City and Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

Metz was three strokes behind Ford. Wininger trailed by four, and Demaret, thanks to a sizzling 63 Saturday, was five strokes off the pace.

None of them was equal to the task of overhauling Ford. However, a 30-year-old comparatively unknown pro named Ansel Snow wiped out all the seven strokes that separated him from Ford and then faded under the pressure on the last three holes.

Snow was sinking birdie and eagle putts all over the 6,065-yard course and finished with a 7-under-par 62 in yesterday's round for a 72-hole total of 264—two strokes behind Ford. Second place brought him $1,400.

Demaret was third with a 267, and Metz took fourth with a 270. Wininger's 271 was good for fifth. Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., tied for sixth with 272s. A stroke behind them [illegible]

Plane Crash Kills 3 Clevelanders

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two news photographers and a machinist from Cleveland were killed Sunday when their light airplane, flying in blinding snow, crashed and burned in a woods in neighboring Summit County.

The victims were the pilot, Michael Levak, 35, a Cleveland Plain Dealer photographer and president of the Cleveland Newspaper and Newsreel Cameramen's Association; Ralph R. Brown, 22, an International News Photos photographer; and Gordon W. Treat, 39, a machinist at the Ohio Crankshaft Co.

They were returning to Cleveland Hopkins Airport after a pleasure flight to Youngstown in a rented plane. The Civil Aeronautics Administration here said Levak had circled the airport at Northfield, for 15 minutes [illegible] to land

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined today around the lowest levels of the year.

The fall was moderate with the volume of business not particularly pressing.

At the most the decline extended to around a point while scattered plus signs helped to bolster the list. These latter were small.

Most major divisions were lower. However, small gains showed up in railroads, chemicals, rubbers and merchandising shares.

The low point of the year was established two weeks ago today as measured by The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $108.70.

Lower stocks included Republic Steel, Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda Copper, Dome Mines, American Cyanamid, General Electric, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, Sinclair Oil, United Airlines, 20th Century-Fox, and Johns-Manville.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Old-crop soybeans started out a little easier but the rest of the grain market held steady at the opening on the Board of Trade today. Dealings were rather slow.

Wheat started ⅛ cent lower to ¼ higher, May $2.18¼-⅜; corn was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.58¼, and oats were unchanged to ⅜ lower, May 74¾. Soybeans were one cent lower to ¼ higher, May $3.05¾-¼.

Less than 50 years after the landing of Columbus, the Spaniards had penetrated what is now New Mexico.

Churchill Hopes For Top-Level Talks

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today he hoped the "processes of good will which may be at work" would lead to talks among big power chiefs of state.

Officially associating the British government with President Eisenhower's recent foreign policy declaration calling on Russia to end the cold war,

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, Case No. 19728.

Theodore A. Parsell admr. of the estate of George Ash, deceased, Plaintiff vs. the unknown heirs at law, next of kin, devisees, legatees, surviving spouse, and assigns of George Ash, deceased; and the Home Federal Savings and Loan Company, Marion, Ohio, Defendants.

The unknown heirs at law, next of kin, devisees, legatees, surviving spouse, and assigns of George Ash, deceased, will take notice that Theodore A. Parsell, administrator of the estate of George Ash, deceased, on the 20th day of March, 1953, filed his petition in the Probate Court within and for the County of Marion and State of Ohio; alleging in the first cause of action thereof, the necessity for determination by the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, of the heirs at law, next of kin, devisees, legatees, surviving spouse, and assigns of George Ash, deceased, and by alleging in his second cause of action thereof, that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay his debts and the cost of administering his estate that George Ash died, seized in fee simple of the following described real estate to wit:

Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion, and bounded and described as follows:

Being Lot Number 1270 and fourteen (14) feet off of the West side of Lot No. 1271 in Loves First Addition to the City of Marion, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the determination by the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, of the heirs at law, next of kin, devisees, legatees, surviving spouse, and assigns of George Ash, deceased, and for the sale of the aforesaid premises for the payment of debts and costs of administration. The persons above mentioned will further take notice that they have been made parties Defendant, to said petition, and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 23rd day of May, 1953, or judgment will be taken against them.

THEODORE PARSELL,
Administrator of the estate of George Ash, deceased.

AUCTION

EVERGREENS AND NURSERY STOCK

Tuesday Evening, April 21, 1953
7:30 P. M. O'clock

Mill St. Auction House
123 E. Mill St.
Marion, Ohio

NOW IS THE PROPER TIME TO PLANT and a general line of NURSERY STOCK, will be offered at this sale. Such as numerous kinds of EVERGREENS, in various sizes and varieties. Peach, Apples, Sweet and Sour Cherry, Plum, Pear, Apricot and Nectarine trees. Various kinds of: Flowering-Shrubs, Roses and Shade trees. Raspberries, Blackberries, Strawberries, Boysenberries, Blueberries, several varieties of Grapes, Gooseberries, Currants, Asparagus, Rhubarb and Horseradish and other items too numerous to mention.
However, the sale will consist mainly of EVERGREENS, for use in modern landscape planting. Come early and inspect this stock to your own satisfaction. These plants are Government Inspected, and guaranteed to be dug fresh.
Anyone interested in landscape material cannot afford to miss this opportunity as you will find it sells very reasonable. Many thrifty people take advantage of these sales each season, as a few dollars spent for landscaping material will increase the value of your property many times over the cost. A Certified copy of Certificate of Inspection, will be given each purchaser. A Representative of the Nursery will be present.
Come, you are invited and welcome.

Clyde M. Wilson, Auct.
